Sample of Disappearing Craft

Scottish born stonemason William Swanson is proud builder of this war memorial at Vermilion. In this and other stone work at Banff and Jasper national parks, the skill of the dying craft is evident. Stonemasons.

says Swanson, are getting very scarce in Canada, as well as in his old country. By "trial and error" he learned the trade that was to be his main interest for many years before an ailing heart forced him to bed.

Light Plane Forced Down At Camrose

Two men were forced down at Camrose, Alta., in their light plane on a flight from Calgary to Edmonton.

A spokesman for Northwest Air Command said the single-engine, high-wing monoplane took off from Calgary yesterday piloted by a man identified only as Mr. Brown and carrying a passenger, George Riving, a Calgary technical school student. Brown did not file a flight plan when he took off and the plane was not considered missing until today, his registration letters were broadcast and shortly after it was reported at the flying field at Camrose.

Home-Owners Buck $750,000 Project

Construction of a $750,000 community centre development in the McKernan Lake district is being delayed because of protest of home-owners in the area.

The development would include 12 apartment houses, containing 144 suites, badly needed in overcrowded Edmonton.

Home-owners in the area have held several protest meetings, in objections, and requested a delegation be permitted to present their case before a decision is made.

As this is noted as a residential area, rezoning is required for multiple dwellings.

Don E. Tius, vice contractor of the project, agreed yesterday to a six-month delay until the matter

Mighty Music Spurs Piper, Nobody Else

By Bulletin Staff Reporter

LACOMBE, May 28.—A piper engaged to escort George Dreyer's party to the platform at a Progressive Conservative rally yesterday was left holding the bag.

Soured by mighty music, 500 persons tore at the piper's parade into the hall, made a nest turn in the platform, then found there was no one behind him.

On the second try everybody got together.

Then the piper disappeared.

He was imported from Sylvan Lake, there being a shortage of pipers hereabouts, and while somebody may have paid the piper, nobody knew his name.

West Jasper Asks Status Of Village

Separate Telephone Service Requested At Tappayers' Meet

Residents of West Jasper Place would like their district to be incorporated as a village or town, with a separate telephone service.

At a taxpayers' meeting held last night executive was asked to obtain details on incorporation, to be dealt with at June meeting.

Provincial government is not prepared to install a telephone system in West Jasper Place at the present time, the meeting was told.

However, a committee may approach the government a second time. City of Edmonton is prepared to install 20 or 25 business telephones in the area by October 1, it was reported.

NO BEER PARLORS

Motion concerning building of hotel and beer parlors in West Jasper Place was passed almost unanimously.

A modified form of the building code used by the city of Edmonton will be adopted by the district. According to the proposed agreement the city will have enforcement of building regulations and issue building permits.

It was also proposed an additional policeman be employed in the district.

Representative may attend a joint meeting of suburban school districts adjacent to both Calgary and Edmonton to place before the provincial government demands for assistance in school construction in these areas.

At present West Jasper Place is paying a school rate of 42 mills, an increase of four mills over last year.

On the second try everybody got together.

Then the piper disappeared.

He was imported from Sylvan Lake, there being a shortage of pipers hereabouts, and while somebody may have paid the piper, nobody knew his name.

BULLETIN OFFERS BEST IN BUILDING

Attention of Bulletin readers today is called to the new Bulletin and Home Review supplement being distributed with today's paper.

The 40-page tabloid supplement is distributed with the hope it will be of some value to home-owners and those planning to build or buy a home.

In it will be found many useful and timely tips and hints on decorating, planning or buying a home.

Later also appeared before a special magistrate's court at Lac La Riche. She was remanded for eight days.

His husband is now in hospital but his condition is not believed to be serious.

It Happened TODAY

Labor

All is not clear sailing for beetle-browed John L. Lewis. Industrialists predict the UMW's chairman will face stiff opposition if he demands continued union shop employment in soft coal mines after June 30. Present agreements expire at that time and all segments of the industry will oppose any request for a union shop clause in new contracts.

... Tough contracts.

Atomic Energy

Unexplored intensity of atomic energy will provide vast employment and new development fields for the engineer of the future. Trade Minister Howe said in a Montreal address. Mr. Howe said the field of development is "almost beyond imagination."

David Lilienthal, Atomic Energy Commission director, U.S., is hitting back at those rapping the Commission's work. He has given Congress important data that compares the present civilian accomplishments with the military atomic energy set-up. Lilienthal charges atomic energy work was practically at a standstill when he took over from the army in 1947.

C. D. HOWE
... Great future.

The Nation

One way to get a depression is for everyone to be a depression. Finance Minister Abbott warns, Mr. Abbott says that talk of the inevitability of a depression is right down the Moscow propaganda alley. Fears of war and depression are Canada's greatest enemies, he said.

Politics

Health Minister Paul Martin has challenged George Drew to name his Tory cabinet in the "remote possibility" of a Progressive Conservative victory in June. Martin charges that Drew could never hope to have a cabinet truly representative of all Canada.

John F. Diefenbaker, the No. 2 Progressive Conservative from Lake Centre, Sask., will help out the Tory campaign in Ontario. He will tour lower Ontario centres next week.

Speeding Charges

Bring $430 in Fines
CALGARY, May 28.—(CP)—A group of Calgary motorists caught speeding over city streets on the May 24 holiday found it was a costly pastime, yesterday. They were fined a total of $430 in police court.

Crime

Guilt or innocence of a former Winnipeg prison guard, Walter Douglas Ross, charged with assisting escape of two prisoners, will be decided by a jury. Mr. Justice A. H. Campbell has rejected a defence plea for a directed verdict of acquittal.

Manitoba is going to give poor criminals a break. The Law Society of Manitoba has approved a plan to provide free legal counsel for indigent persons.

More than 150 lawyers have volunteered their services. Winnipeg is believed to be the first Canadian city to provide such a service.

Public Health

Measles have really hit Moose Jaw residents a wallop this year with more than 2,000 residents victims to date. There have been cases of red measles and 2,000 cases of the ordinary German variety.

The Arts

Canada will shortly have on display a priceless collection of primitive paintings, spirals and other artifacts from the German invasion. Paintings have been stored in the National Museum at Ottawa. They include works of Rembrandt, Caravaggio, Carpin, Bonnard, Rouault and other famous artists.

Council's last meeting it was urged, Max Drew city architect, has been requested to meet with protesting property owners in the area in hope of a settlement.

The apartment house centre would be located between 111 and 112 streets and 76 avenue and a lane halfway between 73 and 74 avenues.

In addition to apartment houses, it would contain a theatre, retail stores, a "super-market," garage, parking space, park area, a double tennis court, three lawns, bowling alleys, a wading pool and sand pits for children.

Mr. Titus owns all the land between 76 avenue and 72 avenue and 111 and 112 streets.

BUILD HOUSES

Eventually he intends to build residential dwellings on the northern half of the property between 74 and 72 avenues.

Main objection of home-owners in the neighborhood is that it would depreciate value of their property.

A petition is being circulated and will be presented when the objection is made on Council.

A. George Bayly, general chairman of the committee formed by the protesting property owners, stated that other objections would be raised but did not wish to divulge them at this time.

He did state, however, that the apartment buildings would shut out of the park area and would result in the "community centre" being private for residents in the apartment houses.

Bad Fall Doesn't Halt Slackwire Performer

Slackwire artist Don Francisco put on an exhibition of courage and grit at last night's Shrine Circus performance when he insisted on finishing his performance after a serious fall.

More than 2,000 saw him miss footing and smash 10 feet to the sawing ring below.

Few of the thousands watching realized immediately that Francisco was badly hurt until circus colleagues rushed to the stricken man and helped him to his feet.

Francisco said later he was "out cold."

Guy Beaudry New Lawyer

Guy Edmund Beaudry was admitted to the Alberta bar today by Mr. Justice Frank Ford in a brief ceremony at the Court House in Edmonton.

He is the son of J. William Beaudry, K.C., member of the legislative assembly for St. Paul.

He was presented by A. M. Brownlee, representing the firm of Brownlee and Brownlee, with which he is associated.

PRIZE-WINNING SCHOLAR

The young lawyer attended the Edmonton Junior College and the St. Boniface College in Manitoba. Winner of an "Lester scholarship" at the University of Manitoba in 1944, he received his Bachelor of Arts degree a year later.

In the spring of 1945 he earned his Bachelor of Law degree from the University of Alberta.

While at the U of A he was student director of radio programs, and in 1947 he represented the University of Alberta at a conference of four western universities. He was married in February of this year to Miss Helen Arden Burman of Viking.

Alta. Pensioners Get $47.50 June 1

Alberta old-age pensioners will begin receiving maximum pension cheques of $47.50 a month on June 1.

Increase in the basic pension to a maximum of $40 a month was announced at the last session of the federal government.

An additional $7.50 a month is paid to pensioners from the Alberta supplementary pension fund approved at the last provincial legislative session.

Blind pensioners as well as pensioners, are eligible to receive the $47.50 maximum pension.

The increased pension cheques will be mailed June 1, public welfare officials said today.

Although obviously shaken badly, jumping from an injured limb and in a fog, Francisco climbed back onto the wire and continued his act. When it was finished he acknowledged the crowd's applause briefly and then staggered to his dressing room.

It is Francisco's first fall since he fell from a high wire into the orchestra pit at London's Wolverhampton Theatre, in 1931. At that time the swarthy artist was in his 20s.

Francisco, third generation of circus performers, betrayed no emotion over his fall and was able and willing to discuss it dispassionately a few minutes after he left the centre ring.

"NEVER SURE"

Speaking between explosions of pain he told The Star that "you're never sure whether or not you're going to fall."

"It's a matter of a thousandth of a second," he added, "just misplaced my foot by a hair and down I came."

Francisco set requires him to imitate a drunkard weaving on the slack wire. Therefore there was no gasp from the crowd when he fell.

He was swinging on the wire, speeding up his gyrations until the horizontal away reached a speed of 60 miles an hour when his body suddenly twisted and he smashed unceremoniously on to the sawdust.

SHOW-GOES ON

His wife, partner in the act, immediately rushed to his aid. "Performers on the sidelines ran out to a moment later when he came around that Francisco was hurt. He was helped to his feet, stood dazedly for a moment, shaking his head then climbed on to the wire. The show went on for Don Francisco."

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

"It happened so fast I don't know what happened," said Mr. Francisco. "He hit on his side and bounced over on his face. I thought at first, his nose was broken."

The couple are celebrating their 20th wedding anniversary tomorrow and have a son in the U.S. Navy. While they claim the world as their true home, their address is Rahway, N.J.

School Changes Forecast Before Library Meeting

Canada is ready for great expansion in the home and school movement, said Dr. W. P. Percival last night, president of the Canadian Home and School Association.

On his way to Vancouver from St. Louis where he attended the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Dr. Percival spoke at a public meeting in Edmonton Public Library.

"Canada is on the threshold of a new movement in parent education and new understanding between home and school," Dr. Percival said. "Co-operation between home and school is vital to development of good citizens."

A good tradition of teaching is being set in the country, with a high morale maintained, the speaker noted. He spoke highly of the normal schools across Canada, emphasizing the good work they were doing in training individuals best fitted for the work.

NEW TEACHING

New psychological teaching about the overabundance of the importance of old principles he pointed out. Duty, responsibility, obligations are hard words but very necessary words and he said we cannot afford to stray too far from the old course.

Dr. Percival will attend the annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Home and Schools in Vancouver.

He was introduced by Mrs. A. N. Nicholson, Calgary, president of the Alberta Federation of Home and Schools.

Botanists Seek Sneezing Relief

Pollen Maps of Province Boon to Hay Fever Victims

While hay fever victims are sneezing and sniffing, botanists at the University of Alberta will be conducting experiments that will aid doctors in their battle against summer allergies.

Under the direction of Dr. E. F. Moss, professor of botany, the U of A botanists will set up aerobiological equipment to measure amount of pollen dust, mold spores and other small organisms present in the air over Edmonton.

First phase in a projected three-year project is to test the atmosphere for pollen grains, this summer. Experiments will get under way in the Edmonton area next week.

AMOUNT MEASURED

By measuring the amount and types of pollen dust floating in the air, doctors will be able to determine what plants during the summer are particularly dangerous to hay-fever sufferers and asthma victims.

Armed with information on density and types of pollen in the air, doctors will be able to improve testing of hay-fever sufferers and prescribe more accurate treatment.

University botanists hope to expand the pollen-testing over the province in future years, and are looking to the day when maps will be available showing pollen distribution.

STICKS TO SIDE

Second method is a type of rotating wind tunnel. Pollen is forced through the tunnel by wind and the grains stick to a glass slide. Following removal of slides, pollen is examined under a microscope. Grains are counted and identified to find out the density of allergy-causing organisms in the air.

This year's project at the University of Alberta is being carried out through the backing of University Medical Research funds. Following the summer's work, a provisional report will be made to the Fund Committee.

Personnel of the botany department taking part in the research are Miss Lorene Kennedy, lecturer in botany, who will be in charge of laboratory work, and Marguerite G. Mansel and Julie Irapaka, both graduates in the department.

Mr. Reinhold has been a seasonal instructor in German for the last two years and will continue graduate work in German language and literature at Ann Arbor.

A native of Calgary, Mr. Reinhold obtained his BA and BEd degrees at the University of Alberta. He taught one year at Mount Royal College in Calgary before taking on lecturing duties at the University.

Alberta's Gas Rights

The provincial government is to be commended for projecting a special session of the legislature early in July to pass laws dealing with the export of natural gas.

Commendable too, is the decision to make the proposed legislation public "within a few days."

It is an imperative function of the provincial government to protect the rights of Alberta citizens with regard to the enjoyment of a full, cheap and continuous supply of natural gas.

To assure such a supply to Alberta householders, citizens provincial control must be maintained over export.

At present the right of Alberta to exercise such control is to some degree in dispute.

Prime Minister St. Laurent has declared that Alberta possesses full right of control.

But government committees at Ottawa, on the advice of federal cabinet ministers, have refused to refer present legislation to existing Alberta legislation.

Has the Lesson Been Lost?

The civic administration is jubilant over a Time Magazine story about Edmonton which has resulted in the establishment of new concrete block industry in this city.

Commissioner John Hodgson reported to the council with justifiable satisfaction, that the reading of this story in Time about Edmonton's extraordinary development prompted a Canadian man to transfer his plant to this city.

It is somewhat astonishing that Commissioner Hodgson's report to council on this matter was not accompanied by a recommendation that Edmonton immediately launch a full scale advertising campaign in publications throughout the continent.

It should state, first, with most emphasis, that the export of natural gas will not be permitted to interfere with a commensurate and economical supply to Alberta users.

It should state, secondly, that if and when export is permitted, priority in concessions will be given to Canadian communities over foreign companies and to Alberta companies over all others.

These two points are fundamental and essential.

State enterprise failed to do anything about those resources in Saskatchewan.

There could be no more striking admission that the socialist doctrine will not work in practice.

It was the final phase of His miraculous life on earth in which He, one of the Divine Persons of the Godhead, assumed human flesh in order that men might see and know God in Him and in order that He might give His life for the salvation of men.

He was born in human flesh. He died on the Cross in human flesh. He was resurrected in human flesh. And in the same human flesh He ascended to God the Father who sent Him.

Back to Private Enterprise

The stark failure of socialist practice in Saskatchewan is rather pitifully emphasized by the frantic efforts of Premier Douglas to interest the oil companies in Saskatchewan's minerals.

Premier Douglas has written a letter to an oil man in Calgary, which has been made public in which he declares that his government has not the slightest intention of expropriating or socializing the oil industry.

Private enterprise developed the oil resources of Alberta.

State enterprise failed to do anything about those resources in Saskatchewan.

There could be no more striking admission that the socialist doctrine will not work in practice.

The Ascension of Jesus Christ

Last Thursday was Ascension Day, regarded by millions as the third most important festival of the Christian Church.

One week from tomorrow will be Whitsunday or Pentecost, the anniversary of the descent of the Holy Ghost upon the apostles.

These two events are so closely tied together in significance that it is impossible to consider the one without the other.

The Ascension of Christ into heaven had to precede Pentecost because Jesus had told His followers that the Holy Spirit would not come upon them until He Himself had gone from them.

One of the important points to be understood in the Ascension of our Lord into heaven is He went back to His Father in the flesh.

The Holy Ghost came to men in the spirit. Jesus went to God in His earthly body.

It was the final phase of His miraculous life on earth in which He, one of the Divine Persons of the Godhead, assumed human flesh in order that men might see and know God in Him and in order that He might give His life for the salvation of men.

He was born in human flesh. He died on the Cross in human flesh. He was resurrected in human flesh. And in the same human flesh He ascended to God the Father who sent Him.

Dance she did... and dance she must... between her two loves...

In her dancing fairy story of The Red Shoes and as her real self, Vicky Page, caught irresistibly between two loves, dances to her death.

J. Arthur Rank presents The Red Shoes at the Rialto theatre now. Starring Anton Walbrook, Marius Goring and Mairi Shearer, the new English production is being hailed as a new masterpiece.

GREAT CAST
The Red Shoes has a great story—the simple, poignant story of Hans Andersen grown up in terms of modern people and emotions. It has a great cast—not only of established film stars but of many actors, musicians, dancers and artists who are famous in their own countries and their own arts.

It has a great setting—the International Ballet touring the capital of Europe.

It makes great use of technicolor—the camera ranging from the plush grandeur of the Opera House to the dim, hot beauty of the Russian olive groves.

GREAT EXPERIMENT
It is a great musical—the sound-track filled with music from symphony to ballet to swing. It is a great film experiment because it brings to the screen the first full ballet, written, composed and designed for the screen and the mass screen audience.

Just as theatre masterpieces like Chalkin-Chow and Bitter Sweet have become part of a generation's history, The Red Shoes will be a milestone in screen history. The Red Shoes is playing at the Rialto theatre now.

Calgary Trams Gone By 1950
CALGARY, May 28 - (CP) - Street cars will disappear entirely from Calgary's streets by mid-summer of 1950, Transit Superintendent C. V. F. Weir said yesterday in a report to city council on future conversion expenditures.

He recommended immediate purchase of 36 coach buses of 40-passenger capacity and 10 36-passenger gas and diesel buses and nine 40-passenger trolley coaches at a cost of $730,000.

Hanna Animal Grand Champion
DRUMHELLER, May 28 - (CP) - Clara Hobbs of Hanna won the grand championship of the 4th annual Drumheller fair and show yesterday. The animal was sold for $300.00.

Glida captured the reserve championship at last year's Drumheller show and has been grand champion ribbon holder at the Hanna show for the last two years. She was a member of the Alberta team at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto last year.

Before the First World War Germany made nearly 80 per cent of the world's dyes.

Punctual Family
PLEASANT, Tenn., May 28 - (CP) - Helen Edmondson was graduated from high school here with a record of not missing school in 12 years. Her older sister, Dorothy, who was graduated last year, missed only one day.

Continuous, Intensive Evangelism Advocated

CALGARY, May 28 - (CP) - An intensive program of evangelism to reach those outside the church should be going on "all the time," Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, Toronto, secretary of the Evangelical and Social Service Department of the United Church of Canada, said last night.

Speaking to members of the 23th annual Alberta Conference of the United Church, being held this week, Dr. Mutchmor urged use of all types of evangelism to "win others for Christ."

The universal declaration of human rights of the United Nations was endorsed by the conference "in view of the racial discrimination in our midst."

SALARY ADVANCES MADE
The federal government was urged to use the $200,000,000 assets of the Unemployment Insurance Fund of Canada only for the purpose for which it was originally intended in case of serious unemployment.

The lay committee on ministerial salaries reported that considerable advances had been made in the last six months toward the objective of a minimum minister's salary of $4,000, including maintenance.

CPR Invites Freight Rate Suggestions
SANIT JOHN, N.B., May 28 - (CP) - N. R. Crump, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said here yesterday his company will welcome any suggestion which will settle persistent charges of territorial inequalities and discriminations in the freight-rate structure and at the same time provide an economically sound position for the railways.

Guest speaker at a luncheon sponsored by the Common Council and Board of Trade, Mr. Crump said it is the primary interest of the CPR to provide Canada with an adequate, efficient transportation system.

Cardston Rotarian Presides At Banff
CALGARY, May 28 - (CP) - Byron M. Christie of Cardston, president of the district 116, Rotary International, will preside at the tenth annual district conference scheduled at Banff, Alta., June 1 to 4. It was learned yesterday.

Delegates from 41 clubs in the district stretching from Kenora, Ont., to Banff will attend.

GAS SWAP WITH U.S. FAVORED IN ONTARIO

LONDON, Ont., May 28.—(CP)—Fuel controller A. R. Crozier said proposals to export Alberta oil to the United States are being carried out, there will be no natural gas to the United States. He told the Ontario branch of the Natural Gas and Petroleum Association of Canada there are Western Ontario to relieve only two apparent solutions to the dwindling local reserves, Ontario problem of the western counties—either the piping of Alberta gas or claiming surplus from the United States. He thought the exchange plan was more feasible and was hopeful it would be arranged. The natural gas group ended its two-day annual convention here today.

Police Handcuffed Him To Cell, Man Charges

WINNIPEG, May 28.—(CP)—The provincial commission probing charges against Winnipeg city police yesterday heard a middle-aged Petersfield, Man., merchant and garage owner testify he was handcuffed to the bars of his cell during a one-night detention on a charge of drunken driving. David V. Velich, fourth complainant by Attorney-General J. O. McLean to appear at the hearings ordered yesterday after charges were made at the last Manitoba legislature session. After about half an hour that Winnipeg police held persons three officers put my arms up over my head and handcuffed my hands around the bars. They left me there.

Mr. Velich said that after talking himself out of the following morning he phoned Mr. McLean, his lawyer, at the Parliament buildings and was advised to get a good lawyer and fight the case. The merchant was arrested by police last Dec. 12 after having three or four bottles of beer at a slone I kicked and shouted for at the last Manitoba legislature session. After about half an hour that Winnipeg police held persons three officers put my arms up over my head and handcuffed my hands around the bars. They left me there.

Eagerly-Sought Uranium Once Almost Worthless

By Paul F. Ellis
United Press Science Writer

NEW YORK, May 28.—(UP)—Uranium, a key word in the current Congressional investigation over atomic secrets, was once an almost worthless metal.

Before scientists learned of its explosive powers, the metal had few uses and no one wanted to mine it. Miners got only a few cents a pound for it.

Today, uranium, in certain purified forms, is the world's most expensive and sought-after metal. Not only does it make atomic bombs, but radiation from its split atoms already has been put to work in medicine, agriculture and industry.

NOT RARE METAL

As pointed out by the Atomic Energy commission's most recent report, uranium is not a rare metal. It is distributed widely throughout the earth's crust.

Before the war, the commission points out, uranium was used principally as a pigment in the ceramics industry.

During the war uranium was a hush-hush word. The press in cooperation with national security regulations did not mention the word—because scientists had then learned that a certain type of uranium was fissionable. That is, it could be split with the subsequent release of enormous amounts of energy. Furthermore, it was believed that a chain-reaction—atoms split one after another—could be effected.

ENDED JAP WAR

The atomic bomb and the end of the Japanese war required.

The raw, unpurified uranium is too expensive. The government pays up to $130 a pound for it. However, a chunk of pure uranium 238 is worth more than its weight in gold—and then some. It is the uranium 238 that is fissionable for a chain-reaction. In a chunk of uranium, there is only one atom of 238 to 140 atoms of uranium 235. One of the country's top atomic secrets is the know-how of separating the 238 from the 235 uranium. At first, it was thought that the uranium 238—which does not fission properly for an atomic bomb—might be by-product.

Makes PLUTONIUM

Then it was discovered that uranium 238 could be changed into an element, now known as plutonium, which is not found in nature. The change over from uranium 238 to plutonium is accomplished in an atomic energy pile, the exact process still being another of this country's secrets.

Plutonium, which also is highly fissionable, can be used in an atomic bomb.

But to get plutonium the scientists must start with uranium. That's why all the concentration to increase the supply of uranium. The government is now offering a $10,000 bonus to any prospector who turns up a new uranium field. And the prospector, with their Geiger counters, are out looking.

B.C. COALITION WINS SUPPORT OF INDIANS

WILLIAMS LAKE, B.C., May 28.—(CP)—Andy Paik, president of the North American Indian Brotherhood, last night called on the natives of British Columbia to support the coalition in the provincial election June 15.

He issued the statement here and said he would call for Indian support against the CCF opposition at a mass meeting Sunday.

Mr. Paik charged the CCF government in Saskatchewan had not given the Indians the unqualified franchise during the regime.

The B.C. legislature, at its last session, gave the vote to the natives for the first time.

He said offer of voting rights made to the Saskatchewan Indians in 1945 had been rejected by the "traitors of Saskatchewan Indians" because they feared they would lose their treaty rights now operative.

DISTRICT NEWS IN BRIEF

St. Paul's Annual Fair August 10-11

ST. PAUL, May 28.—St. Paul Agricultural Society, in a lengthy meeting at August 10 and 11 as the two big fair and stampede days which district residents look forward to for months. And well they may, as this year will bring attractions to St. Paul that have never been seen before in any town of its size.

CGIT Group's Study Of China Climaxed By Tea

ATHABASCA, May 28.—Amidst getting of trees and flowers the Canadian Girls in Training "Stampegals" presented their tea, "A Chinese Garden" recently in the United Church auditorium. Gay Chinese lanterns and parasols added color to the scene while "Chinese" ladies served their guests a dish of rice honeying. Chinese poetry and novelties were shown and incense added an oriental touch.

The tea culminated the group's missionary project on the study of China. Members of the Stampegals group are Isabel Currie, Florence Trolley, Ruth McKelney, Doreen Stark, Irma Steller and Marion Rogers, with Miss B. Martin as their leader.

The stampede may be cut one or two hours shorter, but Stampede Manager Steve Demchuk will select the best riders, horses and cattle and will give the spectators their money's worth.

According to Mr. Neiderburg, who is in charge now, the president, Joe Bedard has thrown his ten-gallon hat into the federal election ring, many well-known breeders of purebred cattle will be showing again in St. Paul. Among them will be Wm. Sutton, St. Line, Schmalzgraber from the Beaver; H. Charon, Dillaire, Turcotte, Butterick, Horton of Heinsburg; W. Siemert, P. Leskne, Hamlin, Hector, Jess, Laford, Many Lakes Hostels; Tremblay; R. Laford; Beila and many others.

Insult Resented
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 28.—(UP)—Mrs. Pauline Suggs, 41, cut for divorce from Russell Lawrence Suggs, 31. She said he had advertised in a newspaper that he was a lonely gentleman and would like to meet a nice lady, age 30 to 45.

South Farmer Burns To Death

DRUMHILLER, May 28.—(CP)—Daniel Wigmore Simpson, 53-year-old Drumhiller district farmer, was burned to death in his home about eight miles west of here yesterday when fire completely destroyed his home.

Mr. Simpson's brother, William, who lives only a few hundred feet from the victim's home, stood by, unable to assist, as flames raged through his brother's home.

Class in Vermilion School Wins Bookkeeping Award

VERMILION, May 28.—Bookkeeping class of Vermilion High School has been awarded "honorable mention" in a nationwide bookkeeping contest conducted by the Business Education World magazine, J. G. Tarangle, teacher of the class, was notified last week by the publishers, the Gregg Publishing Company, of New York City.

An impressive "Superior Achievement Certificate," issued by the Business Education World, will be added to the trophy collection of the school.

Mr. Tarangle's students completed with more than 15,000 students in schools throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Cuba, and the Virgin Islands. The award was made on the basis of the percentage of class membership that took part, as well as on consistent excellence of the solutions submitted.

The award attests, contest authorities stated, the work of the entire class was of superior quality. Of the eight Canadian schools that were awarded these achievement certificates, two are from Alberta, four from British Columbia, and two from Ontario.

Bouquet Shop Opens To Public Here Today

Opening today of the new Bouquet Shop at 10111 102nd street, brings to Edmonton the latest in floral retail centres. Its establishment is the realization of a life-long dream of manager Jack Van Kleeck, young Edmonton businessman.

Mr. Van Kleeck has spent 21 of his 36 years in Edmonton engaged in the floral trade. Prior to opening his new shop he worked for many years as floral designer with one of Edmonton's largest flower firms and is well known to the public. He is married and has a 10-year-old daughter.

His new venture, launched with the best wishes of his friends and associates, is the realization of a life-long dream of manager Jack Van Kleeck, young Edmonton businessman.

His new venture, launched with the best wishes of his friends and associates, is the realization of a life-long dream of manager Jack Van Kleeck, young Edmonton businessman.

Exposure has not been spared in interior decoration to make the establishment one of the smartest of its kind in the west. Furnishings, color scheme and the store layout have been designed to complement the beauty of the flowers on display. Walls are richly finished in gilded woodwork and show to the advantage under the fluorescent lighting installed in other eye-catching feature is the floor tile laid in blending multi-colored pattern.

Smart display cases and show windows have been expertly fitted to show floral arrangements in attractive settings and modern conveniences insure flower freshness. Bouquets, wreaths and other floral arrangements will be prepared on the premises, in space at the rear of the store.

The Bouquet Shop is a worthy addition to Edmonton's downtown business district and its official opening Saturday will find Mr. Van Kleeck and staff, ready willing and able to serve the floral needs of the public at large.

OWNERS John Sawchuk and Nick Brutnik of the new Kingsdale Motors. Both have had many years experience in the automotive business in Edmonton.

KINGSDALE MOTORS building located at 10670 101 street, is newest addition to Edmonton's growing list of new enterprises. Firm will specialize in auto body repairs and deal in automobiles.

KINGSDALE STAFF HAS MUCH EXPERIENCE

The precision body work offered by Kingsdale Motors, opening today, is backed by many years of experience and recognition in all branches of the trade. Owners John Sawchuk and Nick Brutnik were employed at Medico Welders as welders and body repair men. Mr. Sawchuk worked for his brother, Fred Sawchuk, owner of Medico Welders, for 22 years in motor welding. He is skilled in his work, and has gained a reputation for excellent craft and quality repair throughout the city. Mr. Brutnik, also employed at Medico Welders, which recently sold out to Waterline Motors, Kingsway Branch, is a body shop foreman of 14 years' experience. The men have hired a staff of a qualified body repair men and welders, each skilled in his own line. Work conditions for the staff of Kingsdale Motors are up-to-date and more than adequate. A small rumpus room, housing lounges and a coffee shop has been set up at the rear of the shop. Showers have been installed in the basement and a convenient washroom is placed in the main floor shop.

Kingsdale Motors Opening Today

Up-to-the-Minute Plant Gives Complete Service

Kingsdale Motors, opening today in Edmonton, adds another up-to-the-minute firm to the city's growing business section.

Standing for full value, better service and longer lasting results, Kingsdale Motors will cater to Edmonton motorists and automobile trade.

The new auto dealer and body repair shop occupies a 100 foot frontage at 10670 101 Street accessible to that growing traffic thoroughfare.

NEAT DESIGN

The Kingsdale building itself is an art design, with an octagonal front section on a 80 by 34 foot rectangular shop.

Office of owners John Sawchuk and Michael Brutnik are laid out in the 30 x 15 foot octagonal section, and are finished with a quiet dignity supplied by good taste and modern equipment.

The office walls are finished in natural Weidens, over inlaid linoleum floors in cream and maroon or cream and green theme.

The colors are carried throughout the office, in the chromom and leatherette chairs and metal venetian blinds.

PLENTY OF LIGHT

The bank shop gives the impression of space, cleanliness and efficiency, with high white and green plaster walls, lined with large windows admitting enough daylight for daytime work.

Fluorescent lighting has been installed through the building, and ceilings are completely sound-proofed from machinery noise. Heating comes from an air-conditioning furnace, supplemented by a two way fan system in the work shops.

Aiming for the highest in production work, Kingsdale Motors has installed the newest available body repair equipment.

Each used car which is brought or contracted to be sold for the Kingsdale Motors and ground was designed and built by Fred Sawchuk, brother of John Sawchuk and himself a veteran body repair man. Kingsdale Motors will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. for motorist service. The gala opening will take place today at 2 p.m. Although the firm is just opening today, there is already one car with Vic Bennett of Edmonton in the shop—a sleek, silver model of the wheel. T racer, winner of the Alberta championship for 1944. The car, built and entered in the championship again this year, is a promising attempt to bring Calgary finals last year by John Sawchuk and Mr. Brutnik, came in the trip to rest at Kingsdale Motors first and in record-breaking time for a second term.

BOBBY LOCKE CLAIMS PGA LACKS COURTESY

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP)—Bobby Locke revealed the other day that he'll pass up the British Open if he wins the United States Open golf title. . . . Instead, he'll stay here to cash in on the victory. . . . So you can hardly blame the United States PGA for ruling that Bobby isn't a visitor no matter what his passport says.

What really burns Locke is that he hasn't received the same "courtesy" the British PGA offers visiting American pros, honorary members if in the organization.

When Eddie Arcore was offered $500 for a razor testimonial the other day, he said: "Sure. Make out the cheque to Mercy Hospital at Rockville Centre." . . . And incidentally, folks who handle such testimonials say Joe DiMaggio's name is worth more now than when he was playing regularly.

... Wingin' along in PGA.

Mangrum, Snead Advance in PGA

RICHMOND, Va., May 28.—(AP)—Lloyd Mangrum and Sam Snead charmed their skinny galleries yesterday by killing off two opponents each and getting that much closer to the spectators' dream final in the United States PGA championship on the 6,677-yard par-71 Hemlock course.

Mangrum opened the day with an easy 6 and 5 victory over Denny Shute, twice PGA champion. His second opponent, Jody Hamilton, was a lot tougher but still not tough enough and the Nice, Ill., professional won 3 and 2.

Early yesterday Snead had to work from a deficit to defeat young Jack Burke Jr., 3 and 2. The afternoon's second match-play round was Snead's all the way and he won 3 and 1 from Heno Hanson.

The sensation of the first qualifying round, George Schemmer, fell all the way from a great 66 medal score to a 5 and 4 defeat yesterday by Lew Worsham, former United States Open champion. At Breesey pool Horton Smith, champion of the previous era, out 5 and 4.

Australian Jim Fenner knocked North Carolina's Skip Alexander out with a 3-up victory. Others still in the field after a pair of 18-hole rounds included medalist Ray Wade Hill, Herman Barron, Johnny Palmer, Dave Douglas, Clayton Heafner, Jim Demaree and Jim Turnesa.

Survivors play 36-hole rounds today to determine the quarterfinalists.

Turnesa Makes Golf Final As 'Strong Boy' Bows Out

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland, May 28.—(AP)—Wesley Turnesa, stout-hearted little brawler from Elmwood, N.Y., fought through to victory in two blistering matches yesterday to reach the final of the British amateur golf championship as defending champion Frank Stranahan bowed out.

Today the United States amateur king will attempt to bring off the classic "double" of amateur golf when he engages Sam McCready, the 35-year-old Irish-born sharpshooter who ousted Stranahan in a 36-hole struggle.

Youngest of the famous golfing, Turnesa is the first player to reach the American and British amateur finals four times since 1945. Willie turned the trick in 1944-45. Willie won the British crown two years ago at Carnoustie.

OUT OF THE ROUGH

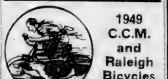

Scrambling out of the rough most of the way, Turnesa was carried to the 19th hole before he disposed of Mick Dewar of County Cork in his quarter-final match yesterday morning. Ernest Millard, a 21-year-old Briton, took him to the 18th green in the afternoon before losing one.

His opponent today, McCready, proved himself a stout competitor as he knocked out Canadian champion Stranahan, 4 and 3, in the quarter-final and went on to subdue Ken Thom, the 15 English champion, on the 20th green in the afternoon. He was two under par when he closed them out with a birdie on the second extra hole.

STRANAHAN'S OFF-DAY

McCready, a former fighter pilot in the RAF, said he was tired to play on the British Walker Cup team against the United States in August; and that he figured the best way to make the team was to beat Stranahan. He caught the "strong boy" on an off-day, got him down and never let him up. (Later in the day, when British Walker Cup team was announced, McCready's name was included.)

A high, cold wind off the Irish sea caused Stranahan to wear a

PAFFRATH BACK WITH OTTAWA

OTTAWA, May 28.—(CP)—Bob Paffrath, who quarter-backed Ottawa Rough Riders into the Grey Cup final last year, will be back with the Riders this fall. Manager Jim McCaffrey announced last night.

Paffrath turned down tentative bids from Edmonton Eskimos and Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Conference to return to Ottawa, club officials said.

Rifle Shoot on Tap At Winterburn

Edmonton Garrison Rifle association will hold a shoot tomorrow at the Winterburn range and all members are asked to be on hand. Transports to the range will leave the Prince of Wales army at 9:30 a.m.

Recently completed crests of the organization will be handed out at the shoot.

J. Saldier was named aggregate winner at the last shoot of the association, held Empire day, when he combined a morning 34 with an afternoon 31 to edge out J. MacDonald 35 to 34.

Gene Sarazen Says Goodbye To PGA Tourney

RICHMOND, Va., May 28.—(AP)—The United States PGA golf championships go on today into the third round of match play, but a sticky, little fellow from Germantown, N.Y., may be playing.

Little Gene Sarazen played in his last PGA yesterday, his 28th. He was defeated in a first round match by Henry Williams of Seaside, Pa. 2 and 1. That was in marked contrast to former years when the farmer and cattleman won three PGA titles.

Victories in the 1922 and 1923 tournaments rank him as a consecutive winner along with Jim Hearn, Walter Hagen, Leo Diegel and Dean Sherry, exclusive golf company.

Gene's third PGA championship was in 1933.

He's 47, a little too old for PGA competition, he thinks, and anyway he's had the spotlight for a long time.

CCF Rules Out All Compromise

Coldwell Refutes Coalition Regardless of Vote Result

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, has made it clear that his party is opposed to coalition with either Liberals or Progressive Conservatives after Canada's June 27 general election.

He told a political rally last night in Hamilton, Ontario, that there will be "no compromise, no coalition" in the new house of commons so far as the CCF is concerned, whatever the election outcome.

The national campaign rolled to the end of its third week. Prime Minister St. Laurent rested in Ottawa after a Friday speech across the country. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, completed a five-day tour across the prairies and prepared to move into British Columbia.

Mr. Coldwell said at Hamilton that his party does not have to enter into a coalition because it is responsible to non but "the people who elect us to parliament." Liberals and Progressive Conservatives are responsible to "big business interests" which contributed to their campaign funds.

He predicted the CCF party will be subjected to a "smear" campaign.

Bible Presbyterian Marks First Birthday

The Bible Presbyterian church, 92nd street and Jasper, will observe its first anniversary Sunday.

Morning and evening services will emphasize principles and conditions which caused a new church to be formed in a day when there are so many. The church was not founded on any new peculiar doctrine, but holds to the historic Protestant faith, especially as contained in the Westminster Confession of Faith.

The church was founded on the conviction that the Bible is the word of God and that the church should follow its own doctrinal standards.

At the morning service, the subject will be "An Exclusive Gospel" showing why there is only one gospel to the exclusion of all other ways of salvation. The doctrine essential to Christian faith and unity will be stated.

At 7:30 p.m. service the apostate conditions in the professing church today will be described along with God's command to all men in this day of apostasy to "be separate. Noministic individuals, denominations, and groups of denominations will be named with evidence in a message "Why Bible Presbyterian Church?"

Mr. MacIver received his early education in Edmonton and served with distinction in the Medical Corps of Calgary Highlanders in the Second World War, when he was mentioned in dispatches.

Mr. MacIver plans to return to McMaster University in the fall to continue his studies in Theology.

CANON O. N. STANDISH, B.A., L.H., rector of Christ Church, Grande Prairie, who will be theme speaker at annual Anglican Young People's Association conference.

The theme is "Christian Marriage." Canon Standish will preach the sermon at morning service at St. Luke's Church Sunday, and the evening sermon at Holy Trinity.

Miss Canada Trial Moves To Toronto

TOLENTINO, May 28.—(CP)—The Miss Canada beauty contest will be held this year in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens, Aug. 18-19, it was announced yesterday.

For the first time, the pageant is moving from Hamilton where it originated nine years ago.

Drew Sees Socialists Stifling Opportunity

Edmonton Bulletin Staff Reporter

LACOMBIE, May 28.—Possibilities of Socialists and semi-socialists combining to strangle the opportunities of young Canadians if his party does not receive a clear majority was seen yesterday by George Drew, national Progressive-Conservative leader.

Mr. Drew addressed about 500 persons representative of the Deer and Wataskwin ridings at a meeting in Lacombe tonight.

There are many young people in the audience and Mr. Drew told them that in no election since Confederation have the issues been so fundamental and the outcome bound to have such far-reaching effects upon the people.

He said there is not the "slightest chance" of the present government being returned with a clear majority and the only way it could continue would be with the combined support of the Socialists.

Consequently, he said, a vote for Liberals would be a vote for Harry Taggart, candidate for Red Deer constituency, and Alfred Harwood, candidate for Wataskwin.

Ross Henderson, Calgary, president of the provincial association, and others on the platform were Art Smith, Calgary, president of the Young Progressive Conservatives; George Noble, Ponoka, president of the Wataskwin Association; Mrs. R. Henderson, W. J. C. Kirby, president of the Red Deer Association; Mrs. H. F. Clark, Calgary, president of the Provincial Women's Association; and William J. Wilde, Mrs. Mary Overland, Calgary, were also present.

When the Drew party arrived from Edmonton a reception was held at the Lacombe station when Kathleen Henderson presented flowers to Mr. Drew. The ladies then moved to Red Deer where a luncheon was addressed by Mr. Drew.

Charles Darwin really had something in that man descended from monkey business. And perhaps we didn't descend so very far at that.

At least a lot of us around The Bulletin news room aren't all sure about the descent phase of evolution after what happened yesterday.

Yesterday we had a visit from a monkey who isn't really a monkey but a chimpanzee.

The chimp would have chumped out of a few editors and reporters in Tommy, talented three-year-old performer with the Shrine Circus.

City Editor Charlie MacFarlane is a hard guy to impress but Tommy impressed him. After Tommy's departure from the office Charlie shook his head and said:

"I think the monkeys got off the evolution elevator on the twelfth floor and people finished the descent to the basement."

And what else could the man think after watching Tommy do his stuff?

The chimp stayed only a short time, but anything Tommy did in that time that a human can do isn't worth chattering about.

CALLING ALL TARZANS
Here's just a few things that Tommy the Chimp did in his brief space of a few minutes.

Put in a telephone call from the city desk. Punched out a brief column of snappy chatter on a social department typewriter.

Scanned the daylight out of social editor Dolores Kimball MacFarlane by stamping his feet in rage when she giggled. Seized staff writer Eric Rips' camera and expanded Super Graphic camera and snapped a picture of the office interior. Made violent love to Marjorie, our favorite brunette.

Right in front of his friend and then calmly joined the staff in a bottle of coke.

Proof that the foregoing description of Tommy's monkey-shenanigans is not just yewash in contained in a picture strip in today's Bulletin.

IT WAS IMPRESSIVE
Fald sports editor Stan Mohr, a former school teacher: "He (Tommy) makes a fellow feel real humble."

Everybody breathed a whole lot easier when Tommy went back to his job at the circus without the big boys seeing him in action. We could all hear the boys sighing.

"Put him on the payroll. He'll work for peanuts anyway."

New editor Bill Lewis couldn't help observing: "If he's that smart at two and a half years what in the world will be like when he's as old as some of us?"

They give fish a great build-up as a brain food. After seeing Tommy a lot of us are going to eat more peanuts.

Is there really a missing link or, if there is, it is missing from man or monkey, chimp or chive?

ON YOU IT LOOKS GOOD is studied opinion of T. C. Manly as he fits western hat on head of fellow Britisher H. H. Dawson. Looking on are other members of U.K. agricultural mission which visited Edmonton Friday during fact-finding tour for British industry which wants to sell farm machinery to Canada. Members of the mission include Capt. E. N. Griffith (left, front), and C. Culpin, G. L. Glover, Manby and J. C. R. Birney (left to right, rear).

Open Verdict Is Returned In Accident

An Edmonton jury yesterday returned an open verdict in the inquest on Kelly Krysko, 50-year-old clerk of 10342 18 street, who died in hospital after being crushed by a steam-roller May 20.

Proof that the foregoing description of Tommy's monkey-shenanigans is not just yewash in contained in a picture strip in today's Bulletin.

Tourists arriving in Edmonton next week are due for a 'royal' welcome.

For from June 1 to June 7, the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce is holding a 'courtesy to tourists' campaign.

So that tourists should come more and more to Edmonton and northern Alberta, the local boys and girls are going to show them how hospitable and friendly we westerners can be.

Many come still expecting to find things in the wild and woolly past. The Jaycees intend to change all that.

By meeting plans and trains and buses, they will welcome sightseers and holidaymakers.

GIVE BOUQUETS
Women tourists will have bouquets of flowers given them, and the family considered typically tourist, will be taken to lunch on their first day in the city, treated to a trip to the oilfields or assisted in doing whatever else they wish to do.

It was nearly 5 p.m. The road ahead had been sand and appeared clear. He looked behind to check whether a street car was approaching. Then he decided to roll the newly patched stretch of road.

He went about 30 feet when he heard men yelling and waving their arms. It was not until he had backed about 20 feet that he saw his fellow-worker lying injured in the street.

He said it is impossible to see anything in front of the steam-roller for 15 or 20 feet. He had a helper who normally signalled to him, but this was not part of his duties and he had been busy at the time.

Joe Jackovsky 3922 101st Avenue, told Dr. M. M. Cantor, the provincial coroner, and jury that he was shovelling sand from a wheelbarrow pushed by Krysko.

Canada's Largest Drive-In Theatre Opens June 6

Second One Is Planned For Construction Soon

Canada's most modern drive-in theatre with a screen larger than any other in North America will open in Edmonton June 6.

For what was only a short while to reach a vacant parking spot ago a barren 35 acre field on 104th street, now the almost completed Satellite Drive-in theatre built by Accommodation is also provided Western Drive-In Theatres Ltd.

To accommodate 652 cars and with space to seat 1,000 patrons the $100,000 theatre has a 50-foot screen, housed in 10-foot towers. Patrons will drive in via a parking space just off the Country club road. Tickets will be sold by an attendant at the gate to avoid forcing the picture-goer to quit his car.

A 38-foot ramp enables drivers to reach the screen.

No extensive is the electric planing that 40,000 feet of underground cable will be used.

Hot coffee, cold drinks, hot dogs, pop corn and cigarettes will be on sale, but extra special feature of the snack bar is a free bottle warming service for babies.

Parents who cannot find baby-sitters will be able to take their children to the show, and put them to sleep in the back of the car.

Facilities for entertaining children before the show start are being organized.

Children under 12 will be admitted free, adults will pay 50 cents and children from 12 to 16 years, 25 cents.

After construction of a similar theatre at Lethbridge, Western Drive-In Ltd. will build a second theatre in the city to be called the Golden Spike Drive-in.

Cars will be fitted with loud-speakers and volume control. No sound will come from the screen.

Scouts will be out to look for all automobiles with foreign number plates given to the city, special radio programs and the tagging of cars.

Remand Plea Refused

J. St. Stone, representative for West Jasper Place on Stony Hill municipal council, was remanded for one week in police court yesterday. He was charged with failing to pull to the side of the road and stop to permit passage of an emergency vehicle according to a sign.

Magistrate J. L. Miller refused defence counsel's plea for one month's remand on the grounds that Stone is a candidate for office in the forthcoming federal election.

"He can appear like anyone else," the magistrate commented.

Charles Darwin really had something in that man descended from monkey business. And perhaps we didn't descend so very far at that.

At least a lot of us around The Bulletin news room aren't at all sure about the descent phase of evolution after what happened yesterday.

Yesterday we had a visit from a monkey only he isn't really a monkey but a chimpanzee.

The chimp who made chimp out of a few editors and reporters in Tommy, talented three-year-old performer with the Shrine Circus.

City Editor Charlie MacFarlane is a hard guy to impress but Tommy impressed him. After Tommy's departure from the office Charlie shook his head and said:

"I think the monkeys got off the evolution elevator on the twelfth floor and people finished the descent to the basement."

And what else could the man think after watching Tommy do his stuff?

The chimp stayed only a short time, but anything Tommy didn't do in that time that a human can do isn't worth chattering about.

CALLING ALL TARZANS

Here's just a few things that Tommy the Chimp did in the brief space of a few minutes.

Put in a telephone call from the office. Punched out a brief column of snappy copy on a social department typewriter.

Scared the daylight out of social editor Dolores Kinna. Made a telephone call to the office.

Tourists arriving in Edmonton next week are due for a 'royal' welcome.

From June 1 to June 7, the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce is holding a "courtesy to tourists" campaign.

So that tourists should come more and more to Edmonton and northern Alberta, the local hosts and guests are going to show them how hospitable and friendly westerners can be.

Many come all springing to change all that.

By meeting places and trails and buses, they will welcome sightseers and holidaymakers.

GIVE BOUQUETS Women tourists will have bouquets of flowers given them, and the family considered typically tourist, will be taken to lunch on their first day in the city, treated to a trip to the theatre or stadium in doing whatever else they wish to do. They will also be guests of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at a supper meeting at the Trocadero.

Bouquets of tourists available—will

Second One Is Planned For Construction Soon

Canada's most modern drive-in theatre with a screen larger than any other in North America will open in Edmonton June 6.

For what was only a short while ago a barren 13 acre field on 136th street, is now the almost completed Starline Drive-In theatre built by Western Drive-In Theatres Ltd.

To accommodate 652 cars and with space to seat 1000 patrons the $100,000 theatre has a 50-foot screen, housed in 70-foot towers.

Patrons will drive in via a parking space just off the Country Club road. Tickets will be sold by an attendant at the gate to avoid forcing the picture-goer to quit his car.

A 36-foot ramp enables drivers to reach a vacant parking space already in their allotted area.

Accommodation is also provided for motor-cycles and bicycles. Set in a spectacular depression the theatre will cater to stage shows and radio programs. First row for cars is 120 feet from the screen, but the area lamps used in projecting are four times more powerful than those needed in indoor theatres.

Cars will be fitted with loudspeakers and volume control. A 36-foot ramp enables drivers to reach a vacant parking space already in their allotted area.

Remand Plea Refused

J. M. Stone, representative for West Jasper Place on Stony Plain municipal council, was remanded for one week in police court yesterday. He was charged with failing to appear at the side of the road and stop to permit passage of an emergency vehicle sounding a siren.

Magistrate A. T. Miller refused defence counsel's plea for one month's remand on the grounds that Stone is a candidate for office in the forthcoming federal elections.

"He can appear like anyone else," the magistrate commented.

After construction of a similar theatre at Lethbridge Western Drive-In Ltd. will build a second theatre in the city to be called the Golden Spike Drive-In.

THERE ARE SO MANY QUESTIONS AND SO MANY ANSWERS IN A CHILD'S LIFE

SWINGING HIGH INTO THE SKY IS A THRILL

SWEET, TENDER YOUTH is the time to get a terrific thrill from swinging high into the clouds on a warm summer day. Some youngsters are for nothing more during their day than a few seasons at the swings and a smile from sweetly playground supervisor Peggy Newland. Wendy McKenzie, left, and Mary Lynne Lorne are looking in the delight of Miss Newland's attention.

TWINKLING TOES IS FUN IN A SHALLOW POOL

OH WHAT FUN to live in the sun and lose away the days. Tiny tots are the only ones who can get away with this sort of thing these days. Their only responsibility is seeing they have as much fun in a day as possible. Carolyn Jennings, Lenore Jennings and Gail Barrett are managing quite well.

WHOOOPS! AND DOWN WE GO . . . ISN'T IT FUN THOUGH?

DISTRICT PLAYGROUNDS provide a lot of fun and games for the small fry these summer days. Euclypn Bird, recreation commission playground supervisor, keeps a watchful eye on her charges. There are swings, may-pole, big slides and little slides, sand piles, wading pools and grassy grounds to frolic about on. Mothers can escort the little people off to the playground, leave them in the care of the supervisor, and proceed to have a few leisure hours of her own.

Teens Find Ways To Enjoy Holiday

Hikes, Playgrounds, Camps Occupy Time For Members

Teenagers celebrated the first springtime holiday of the year, Victoria Day, with hikes in the country, picnics, playground opening ceremonies, and the Shrine circus.

Canadian Youth Hostel met the holiday with a work party, which travelled to Lake Eden to prepare cabins for the coming season. Swimming and a picnic were combined with the work to make the outing a complete success.

Two hundred members of Edmonton Boy Scouts spent the weekend on an overnight camping expedition held at Blackwood Creek.

ICOUT CAMPORE
The Campore was held Sunday and Sunday night, with Scouts spending the night in tents, and enjoying food cooked over a campfire.

Saturday was spent preparing the camp and acquainting Scouts with the surrounding country. A program of skills and a sing-song were held around a roaring campfire in the evening.

Sunday morning, Scouts put into effect their trail, which had been taught by their Scoutmasters.

These included, knife, Morse code and compass, first aid and bridge building.

Afternoon, Scouts were visited by special guests and parents of the Scouts. Winning prizes were awarded with blue, red and white ribbons.

13-Year-Old Wins U.S. Spelling Bee

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP)—Thirteen-year-old Kim Cahn of Canton, Ohio, yesterday won the 22nd annual National Spelling Bee, edged out James Shea, also 13, of Brooklyn, when James won the spelling of "chimpanzee". Kim won $500 and James won $250 for finishing second, ahead of other city and regional champions.

Variety Teen Election On

BY STEVE COLLINS
Regular Saturday night dance for Variety Teens will be held in the Recreation Hall.

In addition to the dance, ballroom will be handed out for members to submit their choice of a new council.

The new list of officers is expected to be installed by next Saturday.

Teens Back Queen Choice

BY KEVIN DUFFLEY
With the weather being the best, Avenue Teens turned out one of the biggest attendances for the year at last week's dance.

The biggest attendance for the year was 100, with the Shrine Circus teaming up to win the Shrine dance, which lasted longer than any of the dances in the hall.

Next week the admission to the dance will be one ticket for Junior McMahon, Miss Calgary Stampede contestant.

Be-Bop Fans Get Hot As Chub Jackson Waxes

Greetings guys, pals, and even music-lovers. All set to take another trip to the music world?

Here's a disc with a quick tempo. Hot off the griddle, it's a bop combo by Chubby Jackson called "Cool Child". Everything breaks loose from brass to bass and vocal to vocals on the Columbia disc. Tiny Kahn does a neat job with this bop waltz. This platter is actually for lovers of that bop stuff.

Also waxing the same number on a Capitol platter is Miles Davis and the orchestra. Miles waxes over on the trumpet, Max Roach the drums; Kai Winding, trombone; Junior Collins, French horn; Lee Konitz, alto sax; Gerry Mulligan, baritone sax; Bill Barber, tuba; Art Hegg, piano; and Joe Shulman, bass. What a combination! Flipper is "Jazz" Need we say more?

Cloverdale Teen Plans

BY KEVIN DUFFLEY
On Wednesday night of each week Cloverdale Teens have their weekly dance and get-together in the hall, which is located on the east side of the new Low Level bridge.

Wish Doug Just as president, the executive is: Bob Brown, vice-president; George Martin, secretary; Violet Francis, treasurer. The social committee includes Ada Langstaff, Steve Smith, Bill Ross and Nora Grant.

Club plans to have a Sports Dance on the evening of June 1.

Teen Hikers Out Tonight

Tonight's big Edmonton Club hike is to be held in Victoria Park at 9 p.m. The meeting place for "Outing Under The Stars" is to be the northwest end of the High Level bridge at 8:45.

There will be coking, hot dogs, and peanuts available and entertainment in the form of games, prizes, and square dancing. Music will be provided by records over a public address system.

The YMCA West Hill was the scene of the opening dance of "Down Town Teens" last night. It was announced that Town Teens will be held every Friday night, and will feature Edmonton's teen-age talent.

Dea, Tawasi:

Early bird at city playgrounds this week was Little Chief. He had a marvelous time playing in the sand piles, swinging high on the swings.

A great big sand castle, complete with bridges and walls, was made by Little Chief and his friends. They had a mighty fine time building tunnels and competing to see who could build the tallest-looking castle. Swinging high in the sky was another special thrill Little Chief experienced at one of the 18 playgrounds operated by the city of Edmonton recreation commission. But the greatest experience of all was to witness the shining slides at Gyro park for Little Chief that was more fun than anything else.

FUN PADDLING

He got a lot of fun from watching his younger friends paddling around in a shallow pool. Little Chief knew that they were having fun since they were making a lot of noise and he knew that it was safe fun since the pool was very shallow.

Birthday Greetings

Best wishes for a happy birthday go to Anona Anderson, Vancouver, 3140-95 St., who will be 13 years old May 30.

Anona attends the S. Price Avenue School and is in grade six. Besides helping her mother around the house she collects pictures of movie stars. This interesting young girl would like a proposal in any part of Canada.

Having his picture taken was lots of fun for Billy Bertrand, 9340 103 Avenue, who has eleven years old April 25. Bill, a keen Tawasi Club member, goes to S. M. Charles School, where he is in the fourth grade. School is all right but he thinks recess is much better when he can play baseball with the fellows. Bill has a shining bicycle he rides to school.

A camel doesn't feel the pangs of thirst for five days after drinking.

The tools are put away in the basement.

The only way Little Chief can get any new toys is to be careful of his old ones. And when you're careful with the toys you've got you don't need so many new ones. Sometimes you can have just as much fun with your old baseball and bat as you can have with a brand new one. And when you're careful with your toys your Mom and Dad think you're a mighty fine boy or girl.

Maybe you're going swimming this week-end like Little Chief is. Now that the rain is over and the sun is shining he thinks it will be a barrel of fun.

Sincerely,
Jan Walker

5 Producing Uranium Mines Revealed U.S.

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 28.—(AP)—The state department of mineral resources disclosed today that five uranium mines have been in operation on the Navajo Indian reservation for more than a year and production now is 500 tons of ore a day. The announcement said the project is being carried out jointly by the Vanadium Corporation of America and the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

Mass Production Of Fake Art Charged

AMSTERDAM, May 28.—(Reuters)—The director of the Amsterdam Municipal Museum, W. T. Sandberg, charged today that "high-quality" faked paintings and drawings supported by the 19th-century Dutch painter Vincent Van Gogh are being produced on a "mass-production" scale.

Offers Invited On 78 Parcels

By Don Flach
More than 12,000 acres of Crown Reserve land is being offered for offers for the petroleum and natural gas rights. Offers will be received for rights on the 78 parcels until the close of business May 31. Nearly all about one-quarter section in size, the parcels are in the vicinity of the following centers, Innisfree, Vegreville, Tofield, Bruderheim, Ponoka, Rocher, Tawinaw and Red Ass.

Offers will also be received June 1 for section 10 township 37 range 2 west of the fourth, in the Red River field. This 200-acre section is immediately west of the one on which the oil is being completed, and is a low-level drilling project.

Petroleum and natural gas rights are being offered for more than 12,000 acres were issued by the provincial government during the week ending May 25.

CLOSE TO MANNVILLE
California Standard Oil Co. has received reservation on 9600 acres near Hinton in Central Alberta and the H. Bravo Exploration Company, 4,000 acres southeast of Mannville.

Rever Oil Co. Limited obtained reservations on two tracts of nearly 10,000 acres each on the extreme northern portion of the province, from township 98 to 102 range 2 west.

Two tracts also of nearly 10,000 acres each, situated near Hinton, are being reserved by the H. Bravo Exploration Company. The latter also obtained two tracts of nearly 10,000 acres each.

GETS SUMMIT WATER
Imperial Oil Co. has received a test of the interval from 5,420 feet to 5,430 feet, and 3,990 feet of interval.

Canada Reports Sales Balance in Securities

OTTAWA, May 28.—(CP)—Principally because of transactions with the United States, Canada had a sales balance in March of $800,000 on her trade in securities with other countries, the bureau of statistics reported yesterday.

This sales balance compared with a purchase balance of $1,200,000 in February. In March last year sales and purchases were in balance.

For the first quarter this year sales balanced purchases, in contrast with a purchase balance of $1,200,000 in the corresponding period last year.

In transactions with the U.S., sales and purchases in March totalled $27,000,000, an increase of 21 per cent over the preceding month, and producing a sales balance of $1,000,000. Principal securities traded were Canadian bonds and debentures.

In transactions with the United Kingdom, total sales and purchases remained unchanged from the preceding month, although purchases exceeded sales by $900,000.

Sales of all countries in March totalled $14,000,000, compared with $11,000,000 in February and $10,000,000 in January. Purchases totalled $14,000,000, compared with $11,000,000 in February and $10,000,000 in January.

Robert L. Ripley Dies in New York

'Believe It Or Not' Creator
Saw Idea Spread Over World

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP)—Robert L. Ripley, 55, who gave the title "Believe It or Not" to a one-shot sports cartoon and saw it grow into one of the world's most popular newspaper features, died Friday.

He had entered the Marmon pavilion of the Columbia-Presbyterian medical center Thursday after a brief illness. The hospital said he died of an acute heart attack.

Only last Tuesday night he appeared on his weekly television show, latest phase in the fabulous career of his "Believe It or Not" idea.

VIGOROUS GROWTH
Since he started the cartoon in 1918 it had grown into a weekly, then a daily feature, jumped from a single newspaper feature to a chain of 30 papers and later to some 100 in the United States. It also was widely circulated in Canada.

He had exhibits at Chicago and New York world's fairs and the San Francisco Exposition, and received several honorary college degrees for the educational value of his work.

In 1913 he came to New York to work for the Globe, drawing one or two sports cartoons a week.

BORN IN DESPERATION
The origin of the "Believe It or Not" cartoon was described by Ripley himself on December 19, 1922, in the New York Daily Mirror.

"Twenty years ago today," he wrote, "I was sitting before a drawing board in the art department of the old New York Globe, and I found myself at a loss for an idea—not an uncommon occurrence with young cartoonists."

"The deadline for the next day's paper was fast approaching so, in desperation, I hurriedly scribbled together a few athletic oddities that happened to be on my mind, made them into a cartoon which, for want of a better title, I captioned 'Believe It or Not!'"

SURPRISED BY RESULT
"I sent this makeshift drawing down to the engravers and went home, thinking I had done a very bad day's work."

Ripley added that he was "surprised" when the editor afterward asked him to do the cartoon once a week.

When the Globe stopped publishing in 1923, Ripley joined the Evening Post, where he remained until 1928. In the latter year Publisher Max Schuster persuaded him to put "Believe It or Not" into book form.

$100,000 FIRST YEAR
William Randolph Hearst saw a copy of the book and ordered his King Features Syndicate to sign Ripley for more than $100,000 the first year.

By 1940 the cartoon was appearing in nearly 300 newspapers in this country and being translated into 15 languages and published in 38 other countries.

Ripley had been married and divorced from a former Ziegfeld Follies girl, Beatrice Roberts.

Col. Robert Hyland, Ripley's business manager and lawyer for 29 years, said Ripley had directed that the "Believe It or Not" enterprises and collections, incorporated in a holding company, be carried on after his death.

Bengough Resignation Resolution 'Hopeless'

FORT WILLIAM, May 28.—(CP)—John H. Raymond of Windsor, Ont., vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (I.B.E.W.) said at the opening of its convention here today that if a resolution calling for the resignation of Percy Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, were introduced it would not reach the floor.

Mr. Raymond had been asked to comment upon a report that Frank McIntosh of Winnipeg, representing his locals in that city, intended to introduce such a resolution, calling for Mr. Bengough's resignation over the Canadian Steamship Union (C.S.U.) strike.

The C.S.U. has been on strike for some months in a dispute between it and the Seafarers' International Union (S.I.U.), which has affected shipping on both Canadian coasts and abroad.

Asked if he intended to propose such a resolution, Mr. McIntosh said:

Land Sales Boom Soars in City

Edmonton Does Well After Big Collapse of Year 1913

By Wm. "Spud" Murphy

When Edmonton's expansion boom collapsed in 1913 and real estate in the city became almost worthless whole subdivisions were abandoned by promoters as swiftly as a cook drops a red hot poker.

During the ensuing years a total of 75,000 lots reverted to the city for non-payment of taxes as speculators liquidated their investments in what they considered worthless city property.

Civic officials, desperate for finances in these depression years, were able to borrow against the arrears of taxes chargeable against the properties surrendered following the boom.

This carried the city over the peak of that depression, and placed the municipal financial ship on an even keel during the buoyant financial period between 1923 and 1929. But the real value of the windfall that came to the city following the 1913 boom bust was not fully realized until the start of the Second World War.

START EARLY

Slight stirrings in the real estate market for residential sites started in the years 1937 to 1939, but the boom in land sales through the city land department really started humming in 1941.

For several years these sales totalled more than $1,000,000 annually, and enabled the city to hit the mortgage against the unpaid taxes account for the land that reverted to the city following 1913.

Proceeds from these land sales in recent years have been utilized for civic improvements, especially the construction of roads, sidewalks and other permanent improvements.

This year sales will exceed the $1,000,000, and that amount has been earmarked for highway construction.

Throughout the years, from 1918 when the first tax forfeit sale of land was instituted, to date, approximately 40,000 of the 75,000 lots have been sold or placed in reserve for park and civic purposes.

SOME HELD YET

Today 22,000 of the original 75,000 lots are still held by the city but they are being sold off at the average rate of 2,300 annually.

Last year 2,268 lots were sold in different sections of the city, and in this year 1949 have been purchased, mostly by persons erecting homes.

At the beginning of this year there were 1,065 lots on hand at the city land department that were serviced with sewer and water.

This total will be increased by 3,000 during the year as new subdivisions are opened up to meet the unprecedented demand for commercial and residential sites arising out of oil discovery in the Edmonton area.

City commissioners estimated that property sales this year would reach the $1,000,000 mark, but figures for the first four months of the year would indicate that this figure will be substantially exceeded.

It is now fairly evident that the 3,000 lots being serviced this year will not meet expansion requirements, and commissioners are proposing to extend this phase of civic development.

Survey crews are working overtime opening up new residential commercial and industrial areas.

As fast as the surveys of these areas are registered at the land titles office the available lots in these areas are snapped up by purchasers hungry for the building sites.

Recently survey of two industrial areas, one on the South Side between the CNR and CPR tracks, the other on the Hudson's Bay reserve near Kingsway, was completed, and within a few days practically every building lot in the areas had been purchased or placed on option.

It is the same story in the residential field. Sub-divisions being surveyed are scarcely completed before all lots are taken up by contractors working under the Dominion government's integrated housing plan.

Recently sub-divisions have been opened up in the Beau Park, King Edward Park, Strathairn, Windsor Park, and other South Side areas. All lots in these areas owned by the city have been sold to contractors who have undertaken to erect 3,000 homes here in 1949.

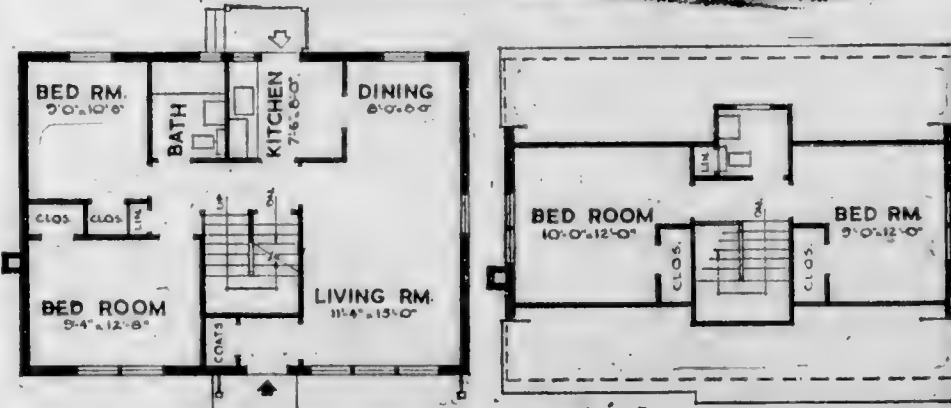

Areas in the Glenora, Hempriggs, Deasland, Westmount, Jasper Place, Capitol Hill and other sub-divisions are being opened up on the north side and demand for lots in these areas is equally strong.

Commissioners are casting their eyes on next year's development and contemplate further developments in the Capitol Hill, Glenora South and North district, Westmount, and other northern districts.

On the South Side development will be extended to the Forest Heights area and further development will take place in the Windsor Park, Martin estate, King Edward Park, and Parkdale South.

Guided Weapons Work Started

BRISTOL, England, May 28. — (Reuters)—The Bristol Aeroplane Company, in collaboration with electronic experts, has started development of guided weapons, chairman Sir W. G. Verdon Smith told the company's annual meeting here yesterday.

ARCHITECTS, Wilson and Newton, have designed this house with a second storey which, if completed, would provide two additional bedrooms and a washroom. There are two bedrooms on first floor, a bathroom, and a kitchen adjacent to dining space. Living-dining room is bright and airy with its large front window. Slight suggestion of a porch over front entrance and window eliminates any box-like appearance. Area of the house for estimating purposes is 1,255 square feet.

Your House Can Also Be Your Home

If the Canadian home is prettier, more comfortable, more colorful, more utilitarian than ever before, you can attribute it to the acceptance of modern ideas by the Canadian household, now giving designers plenty of freedom to express their creativeness unhindered by conventional ties.

We no longer hold to fast rules set down by other generations. We know that a comfortable home does not have to be cluttered with unusable objects, that furniture does not have to be mated to "suits." We buy for our own taste and enjoyment, things that give us personal comfort.

MORE AND MORE

Today the trend is more and more toward double-duty furnishings. There are vanity-desks for the bedroom-den; beds that fold into attractive wall cabinets only one foot and a half wide; dining tables that fold down from wall chests, chairs that become comfortable beds.

The utilization of precious space is felt throughout the home. Coffee and end tables have drawers, desks have bookcase built into three sides; hassocks contain space for record albums. One Swedish modern table is first a coffee table, revolves up to card or end table level, then with the addition of two leaves serves as a dining table.

To satisfy the housewife's penchant for rearranging furniture every spring—and perhaps winter, fall and summer—there are sectional curved divans, coffee tables and chairs built on rubber-tired wheels.

In the bedroom, oversized beds—taking up no more space than twin beds—make their appearance with large fancy headboards, tufted or plain upholstery.

Mattresses are designed for beauty with bows and flower designs. Backgrounds of white, "shocking pink" and "sleeping blue" substitute for ordinary ticking. Foam rubber cushioning in bedding and furniture is making a big hit.

BRIGHTER HUES

Brighter hues in paints, wall paper, rugs and fabrics is perhaps one of the gayer changes in the home. Victorian furniture designs are shown with colorful instead of sombre fabrics. Metallic materials are gaining in popularity, being used for upholstery and drapery fabrics. Oversized flower materials in a colorful splash brighten up windows. Photographic fabrics—combining a personal photograph motif, scenic or floral designs—supply a rich unusual effect.

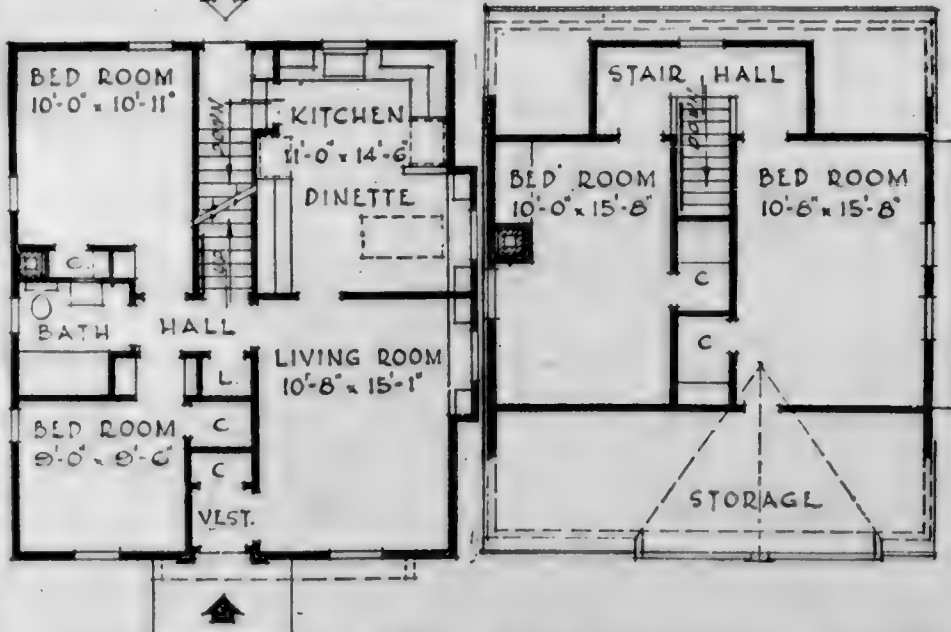

Rugs and carpets, some of them simulating hand-hooked designs, are rich reproductions in a variety of weaves and colors, of heretofore expensive floor coverings.

CAN'T IGNORE

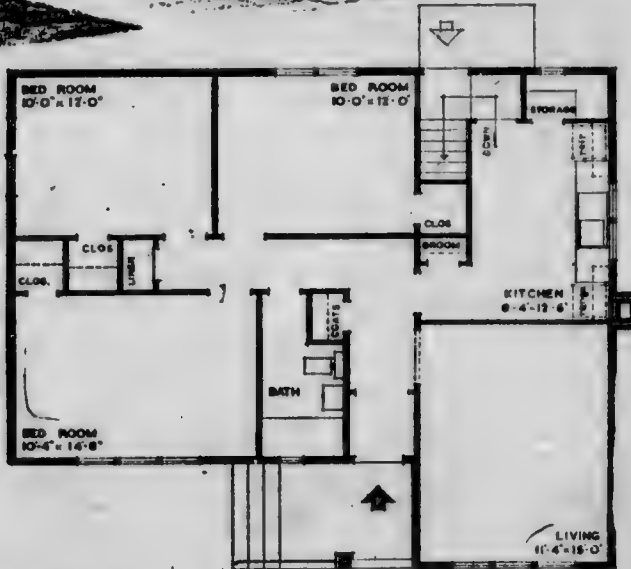

You can't ignore the modern trend. But modern furnishings once thought to be "one-world modern" now are being combined with Chinese and other period furnishings for harmonious effects. The owner's good taste and personality also are reflected in the selection of accessories and art collections to be used in the home.

Today's home can be a medium of personalized poetic expression for the budget-minded or the gold-den-laden. It seems as though the Canadian household is taking advantage of the opportunity.

The model for Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa" is said to have been Isabelle d'Este, the Marchioness of Mantua.

SIX-ROOM, frame house with basement is popular one-and-a-half storey type. House has been planned so second floor rooms may remain unfinished at outset and be finished when required. A center partition in basement provides a large uninterrupted space which could be finished as a recreation room. For estimating purposes, floor area is 1,284 square feet. (Working drawings may be obtained from any office of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost).

DESIGNED by Roland Dumais, this attractive frame bungalow contains three large bedrooms with ample closet space. Living room projects a few feet at front of house—doing away with the box-like appearance. Convenient working area with a minimum of waste space is keynote of kitchen-dinette. House is 37 feet wide and requires a lot of approximately 45 feet. Wood siding is shown as the exterior finish. For estimating purposes, floor area of house is 1,009 square feet.

MEDIUM-SIZED four-room bungalow of frame construction, this house has advantage of being expandable. By taking a corridor off end of back bedroom, one or more bedrooms may be added in a rear wing. Elevations are simple and straight-forward. Living room has a large window with a boxed frame allowing it to project four inches from wall face. For estimating purposes, the floor area is 780 square feet.

Glass Slats For Fireplace

A new fireplace screen made out of heavy plate glass louvers has been designed to cure smoking fireplace by closely controlling the draft. The louvers are adjustable at top and bottom to check or increase draft.

Spaced an eighth of an inch apart, the glass slats allow a minimum amount of air to be drawn up the chimney, while enough is taken in to keep the glass cool and prevent smoke smudging. In addition to preventing flying sparks, this system affords so much draft control that operation of the damper is unnecessary. Since fireplace heat is by radiation only, this invention is designed to preserve heat loss up the chimney.

It has been estimated that a fireplace draws more than 100 times the amount of air into a house than is actually needed for proper combustion. This is noticeable by the drafts on the backs of persons sitting around a fireplace and it is said that high back-wing chairs originally were designed to offset that discomfort.

Times Change Paint Styles

In the early days of settlement in North America, paint was a symbol of social prestige. The homes of a town's most well-to-do citizens could be recognized by their gleaming paint coatings, and "common" people were not supposed to distinguish their homes with the use of paint.

Time changes all things, but paint might still be regarded as a "badge of solvency" for any property—not, fortunately, merely a distinguishing feature for the residences of the very well-to-do.

Oil Boom Boosts Building in City

Associated Industries Send Figures Skyrocketing Here

By Lloyd Jenkins

Oil was discovered on Edmonton's doorstep only 26 months ago but it has lubricated the wheels of progress so well that nearly every line of activity in the city is now rolling along to record highs.

Oil companies have been estimated as spending nearly one million dollars a day for all purposes in Alberta.

Actual oil production in the Edmonton area means about $100,000 a day.

Average well-head price per barrel is between $2.50 and $3. Average daily production for 246 Leduc-Woodbend and 53 Redwater wells for the week ending May 16 was 33,813 barrels.

To this should be added one well each at Golden Spike, Bon Accord and Whitemud, which are producing on a pro-rated and experimental basis.

28 COMPANIES

Twenty-eight oil companies operating in Alberta employ 2,310 Canadians and 105 Americans, according to the Western Canadian Petroleum Association. They have 112 drilling rigs, mainly in the northern half of the province. At the New Year the number was 82.

For the city proper it has meant unprecedented construction and industrial expansion.

Construction has increased from $13,000,000 in 1947 to $64,000,000 in 1949. Refineries, gas absorption plants, supply warehouses, new hotels, over 3,000 new housing units and numerous other projects are either being erected or planned.

Every major steel company in the United States has already shown interest in locating in Edmonton and English Steel Corporation has located a subsidiary plant here. Practically every major company in the world is interested in exploring over 50,000,000 acres of virgin prospective oil country in the province.

Three major fields have already been established, Leduc, Woodbend (sometimes grouped) and Redwater. Whitemud, nine miles south; Bon Accord, 18 miles north;

Joseph Lake, 18 miles southeast; Golden Spike, 16 miles southwest; all had discovery wells this year.

Additional wells are being drilled at Golden Spike and all are being watched for potential development as major fields.

Golden Spike is prorated at 400 barrels daily, Bon Accord at 100 and Whitemud at 75.

Although the search for oil leans heavily on science, discovery of crude in Alberta resulted from the stubborn conviction of a layman that the experts were wrong.

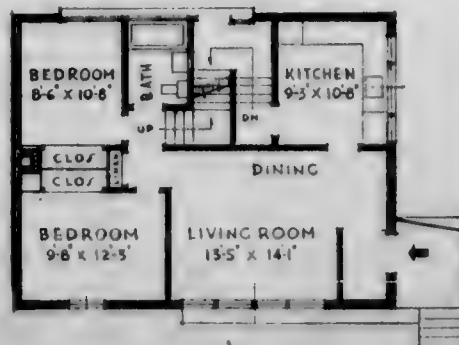

Drilling one well costs many thousands of dollars, and no one would care to estimate how many billions of dollars crude oil eventually may mean to this province, and yet discovery turned upon a reluctant $20,000 loan!

Some persons would claim that discovery would have been made eventually anyway. Possibilities of crude oil in this province had been known for some time, and the oil companies would not have given up the search easily. And crude at Norman Wells, N.W.T., was discovered in the early 1920s, but attracted little attention because of difficulty getting it out.

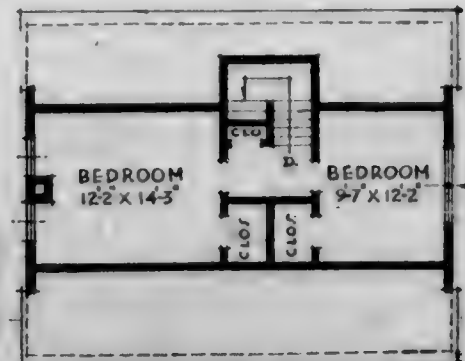

Yet prior to June 16, 1936, the oil companies almost had given up, for discoveries in Alberta prior to that date were either of the "wet gas" naphtha variety or of little commercial importance.

It was well-known Indians for many years used seepage of oil which accumulated on ponds for medicinal and illuminating purposes. According to legend, Kootenai Brown traded with some Indians and obtained an oil slough near Pincher Creek.

This started the province's first oil boom, but the oil supply soon petered out, and with it the boom. It remained for another Brown to start the present era of oil expansion.

FIRST FLOOR

SECOND FLOOR

HERE is a modernized Colonial one-and-one-half storey, six-room house with basement. Exterior finish is brick veneer for walls with asbestos shingle or wood siding on gable ends. Exterior dimensions are 31'10" x 25'9". First floor has an area of 820 square feet and second floor 435 square feet, giving a total area of 1,255 square feet for estimating purposes.

MODERATE HOME for a family of moderate income is exemplified in this modest single dwelling. Finished in natural wood, trimmed with white and stucco, house is one of Edmonton's many neat and livable homes designed for comfort, convenience and economy.

Building Reaches Record

By LLOYD JENKINS

Compared to 10 years ago, estimated building in Edmonton for this year will have multiplied 40 times!

In 1939 building permits were valued at $1,661,109. This year's estimate is $64,000,000.

The total for March this year alone is almost two-thirds as high again as the complete total for 1939.

An amazing $28,000,000 has been earmarked for housing alone in an effort to build 3,350 units this year.

Growth in the number of home owners in recent years has been noteworthy. In 1944, owners numbered 12,156 and tenants 7,147; while in 1948 owners had increased to 17,894 and tenants had moved only slightly upward.

At present the city has 24,252 residences and 2,932 non-residential structures.

Whole new districts are being developed—as a tour around the city will indicate.

Construction, though, is more a filling in of "blank spots" than expansion of particular areas.

NOT LEVELLING OFF

Not only has Edmonton refused to conform to the levelling-off pattern for the rest of Canada but has actually benefitted from it, as construction companies and skilled workers were released for employment here just when they were needed most.

Rumor had it that National Employment Service was warning workmen in other western cities not to come to Edmonton.

The Service has never discouraged skilled tradesmen, particularly in the building industry in which there is—and likely will continue to be—a scarcity, though in the past it has taken a dim view of unnecessary influx of ordinary laborers.

It has issued warning that before coming here workmen should make sure of accommodation, but that is all.

Indeed, employment opportunities seldom have been better, according to W. G. Paterson, assistant manager of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Last week unemployment rolls reached the lowest mark for some time, with 1,849 males and 589 females receiving assistance, and with jobs open for 626 men and 700 women.

Scarcities which hampered construction in immediate post-war years are beginning to disappear. On the labor side, bricklayers and plasterers are still difficult to obtain, and on the supply side, cement, but the situation for both labor and supply is better than even one year ago, the construction industry states.

The threatened strike at Canada Cement's Exshaw plant slowed down planning for a time, but this danger now seems to have passed.

Potential buyers maintain that prices asked for houses are "scandalously high." Builders claim that cost of materials and labor has made such prices necessary, rather than that the trade is profiteering on scarcity of accommodation.

With spruce $80 a thousand board feet and fir $235, builders say it is almost impossible to build a "cheap" house.

Removal of the mountain differential should make B.C. fir cheaper in the Edmonton market but lumber dealers intend to appeal to the Board of Transport Commissioners to consider lumber as a special case. So whether the benefit, which would come into effect July 1, will be passed on, or continue to obtain, is problematical.

On the preference side, buyers lean heavily to the stucco bungalow type.

Graham Curtis, civic industrial commissioner, claims that 1948's record of over 50 firms of all types locating here will be exceeded this year. Highlight of this activity was erecting of the $1,000,000 Imperial Oil refinery and a $6,000,000 gas absorption plant at Leduc being built in 1949. McColl-Frontenac is also building a refinery adjacent to Imperial which will be completed this year.

SPACIOUS DWELLING typical of Edmonton's modern home, is this house of today, styled in up-to-date and functional design; planned to blend with natural background of trees. Combination of stone and glass give luxury and good taste the lead in this house of modern living.

Timely Tips For Painters Are Dispensed

Now that the days are getting definitely warmer and longer so that winter can be spoken of in the past tense once more, that old urge to get busy outdoors with a paint brush is becoming evident again across the country.

Herald of the desire to obliterate the marks of winter and pave the way for a clean, fresh summer is the growing talk about Clean-Up, Paint-Up Campaigns in every part of the Dominion.

GOOD THING

This yearly-recurring ambition that seems to infect us all in the spring is a good thing all around. It's good for our property to get a clean-up and another coat of protection. It's good for us — physically and mentally — to get busy at something just a little different to the normal routine.

Just the same, we shouldn't let the bug run away with us. In outdoor painting, there are certain basic things which we are prone to forget with unfortunate results which we frequently blame on something other than our own impatience.

As an example, it just isn't a good idea to start outside painting the first warm, sunny day — whether we are painting the back fence, the wall or the front porch.

NOT ENOUGH

One day of bright weather after all the rain and cold of the last few months, that's enough to stir out the wood to be painted. Curb that impatience to get going until several sunny days in a row have had a chance to do their work — otherwise, that new paint is going to go over wood that still contains moisture, which eventually will have to leave its way out and quite likely will ruin the painting job.

Then there is the matter of dirt, dust and grease. Unless they have been removed, the fresh paint just isn't going to get a chance to do its rightful job.

The impatient painter who doesn't want to wait to clean the surface first is just piling up more work and expense for himself in the future.

The same thing applies to cracked or scaling paint. All loose paint should be removed before the new paint goes on or else the job is only half-done. Usually, it can be sanded or wirebrushed off — only rarely is it in such terrible condition that a blow-torch has to be used. But, blow-torch or not, it should come off before the fresh paint goes on.

MIX WELL

Finally, there is that old business of mixing the paint well. Funny how many of us insist on a good quality paint, painstakingly prepared by careful formula calling for just the right balance of oils, pigments and thinners — and then start slapping the paint on without anything more than a casual attempt to make sure that those ingredients are mixed together the way they should be. Make sure the paint is thoroughly mixed.

Telephone Raceways Are Most Important

Two of the most prudent precautions to take in building a new home today are the installation of adequate electric outlets for the constantly growing number of household appliances and the installation of telephone raceways.

After a modern insulated house is completed it becomes difficult and expensive to change its wiring system.

Telephone raceways are pre-installed connections that facilitate future instrument installation at almost any point in a house.

With monthly charges for extension telephone bells and extension phones now on a reasonable basis it is wise for a home owner to provide for changes of mind in the future.

MOVE ABOUT

Also the advantage of plug-in telephones are something worth considering, especially in two storey homes. With a plug-in system an instrument can be moved from one room to another and back again at will.

Built-in raceways simplify auxiliary telephone installations and eliminate damage to walls and decoration.

A substitute for built-in raceways has been developed in a raceway baseboard. This consists of two extruded aluminium interlocking elements. The lower one is screwed to the floor and the upper is a removable plate—the two concealing all wiring in a fire-safe panel.

Another handy invention is an electric outlet strip.

Women Give Cue To Decorators

Lady Of the House Is The One Who Sets Scheme

"In getting away from conventional colors in exterior decoration," states a Canadian decorator, "a home owner runs the risk of appearing ridiculous to his neighbors. And, he continues, 'frequently the neighbors are right.'"

Exterior decoration is to the home, he claims, what make-up is to the young woman. A home owner who will take the time to study the shape of his house for the most effective colors, is doing the same things as a young lady who carefully studies the shape of her face, then chooses her make-up to enhance the features.

Whereas an attractive head of hair is "women's crowning glory," says the decorator, color for the home takes its cue from the roof. The roof is the most dominating part of the house and a choice from over a hundred colors and blends of asphalt shingles must be made with care. Color will depend upon whether the roof is seen against a hill, against water, viewed looking down, or shaded by trees and taller buildings. Once the color is chosen, complementary colors and blends will be required for the rest of the house. A young lady with red hair, he says, will not choose cosmetics prepared for a brunette.

A young lady with a round face, he continues, dresses her eyebrows and cheek bones to make her face appear longer. A squat house can be made to look taller with a bright roof and scarcely any contrasting trim on the windows and corners. A tall house can appear lower with a roof of a deeper color and with trim and shutters painted the same color.

To appear at the office with a hairdo and facial suitable only for evening wear is in poor taste, says the decorator, and to decorate one's house so that it clashes with the general construction and environment is equally in poor taste, and tends to make the whole effect appear ridiculous.

FOUR-ROOM bungalow, designed by Harold C. Beckett, with full basement and attached garage is an ideal home for a small family. Constructed of brick veneer, it has gables of horizontal wood siding which give an interesting contrast to the elevation. Although the kitchen is small, it is compact and leaves adequate space for a breakfast nook. For estimating purposes the floor area is 1,170 square feet.

Engineers Argue On Basement in House

Is it cheaper to build a one-storey house without a basement?

Engineers tackled this old argument over which both architects and builders have been bitterly divided.

After designing a series of houses with cost charts, the engineers found that it may be cheaper to eliminate the basement—but:

- 1.—Only for the one-story house that is built on a concrete slab
- 2.—The house that must be built on a relatively level lot with good load-bearing soil.
- 3.—The house must be in a climate not much more severe than that of Latitude 39.
- 4.—Less space can be provided above ground to substitute for the basement.
- 5.—In localities where mortgage lenders prefer basements, the omission of a basement may result in a mortgage loan much lower in proportion to the total cost of the house.

Remote Control Wire Is Latest Device

Many homes are now being electrically wired on a new principle of remote control switches.

These operate on weak doorbell circuits, eliminating much of the cost of heavy cables through the walls reducing fire hazards and making it possible to control lights, outlets and small household appliances from any number of points in a house.

Instead of switches cutting the heavy house current, they operate magnetic relays in the light fixtures, or outlets, so that lightweight 22-gauge wire carrying only 25 volts is all that is necessary to and from switches.

A small transformer provides the current for the switch circuits, the same as for a standard doorbell circuit.

Developed by General Electric, the remote control wiring system is expected to reduce electric wiring costs considerably.

MANY ADVANTAGES

One of the biggest advantages is that the system makes multi-switch control practicable in low-cost homes. Formerly the cost of installing heavy cables to more than one switch was a real handicap. With cheap wiring any number of control combinations can be worked out.

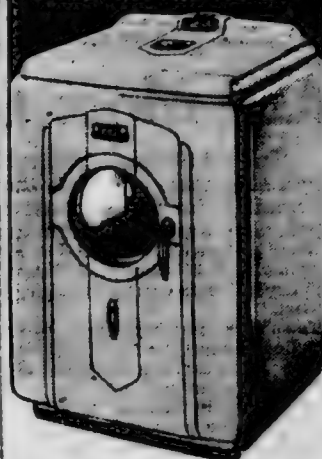

For example, front and rear door light can be switched or not only at the doors, but from kitchen or bedrooms, as well.

The radio can be switched off temporarily from the telephone location. The electric coffee maker can be turned on from the bedroom when the family gets up. An entire house lighting system can be switched on from a bedroom if an intruder is heard.

Because of the low voltage at the switches the danger of shock from wet hands is eliminated.

Severe Frost Damages Barley

ST. PAUL, May 28.—A four-hour rain on Wednesday afternoon resulted in .25 (a quarter of an inch) of rainfall according to Lucien Landry of the Alberta Wheat Pool. This amount, although small, will do much good to the grain which, in most sections of crop district 12, is already sprouted.

As if the drought were not discouraging enough, 21 degrees of frost were recorded in some parts of this district early Monday morning with the temperature falling as low as eleven degrees. In some places barley, which was up as high as six inches, was reported to be frozen to the ground, and, in most instances, will require re-seeding.

Many gardens which were away to a good start, will require replanting. Even the leaves on many of the trees were frost-killed as well as wild fruit blossoms which gave promise of a plentiful berry crop.

Need to Check Locale Stressed

Always Investigate Site
Before You Build or Buy

In their enthusiasm for home-ownership, families sometimes fail to consider the extent to which choice of a community will govern not only their contentment in the new home but the future value of the property as well.

Actually, in view of its significance to satisfactory living, neighborhood selection must be regarded as a matter of first importance and no decision should be made until careful study has established the suitability of the community.

It is unlikely that all the qualities of the ideal neighborhood will be found in the communities investigated. Long-established neighborhoods may be lacking in some respect because of improper planning while new areas will probably be in the process of acquiring the amenities which meet modern standards of good living.

The aim should be to select the community which comes closest to meeting the present and future needs of the family. If the area has a planned future, early inconvenience can be accepted, but you should check with local authorities to ensure that provision has been made for the missing services.

PLAN FUTURE

The home-planner's choice of neighborhood must therefore be made with regard to the area's present suitability and, to a large degree, in relation to plans for its future development.

Communities, like people, vary in their general characteristics. Some are neat and prosperous; others are poor and untidy. A good criterion of a neighborhood is often the percentage of houses occupied by owners. While this does not mean that a community having a large number of rented houses will necessarily be unsatisfactory, it should be recognized that some tenants have only a temporary interest in their houses and so have little desire to repair or improve the property. On the other hand, home-owners will naturally show greater pride in and concern for their property which is for them an investment as well as a residence.

MANY FACTORS

In the majority of instances, families seeking home-ownership want houses and communities where they can live in contentment for years—perhaps a lifetime.

Valuable information regarding the trend of development which may be expected can be gained by enquiring into the community's history.

Other factors to be considered are the existence of deed restrictions, building codes, zoning regulations, health and sanitary ordinances, the possibility of industrialization or commercial expansion and the effect which the growth of adjoining communities might have on the neighborhood.

Assessment of the type of new families which have recently taken up residence in the area is also recommended as a guide to the continuing suitability of a neighborhood. Find out whether or not prospective neighbors have interests and live in circumstances similar to your own. Certainly any family will be more content living in a neighborhood where families are of about the same social and financial level.

The welfare and convenience of the family must always be remembered when choosing a community. Because of their major role in family life, the proximity of churches, schools and shopping centres should be noted.

While it may not be desirable to live too close to any one of these, all should be within a reasonable distance. Their existence will also have a definite bearing on the value of the property.

SCHOOLS IMPORTANT

The prospective home-owner should bear in mind that, although he may have no children of school age, schools may be of great importance to him at a later date or to a subsequent purchaser if he decides one day to sell.

Good transportation is also essential. Suitable means of travel will be necessary for all members of the family in their various activities. Closely allied with transportation is safety. Has the neighborhood a good reputation for traffic accidents? Is there adequate police and fire protection?

The existence of recreation and amusement centres is a requisite for any modern community. Theatres should be located in the neighborhood and facilities for golf, tennis, swimming and other sports readily accessible.

AVOID NUISANCES

Do not overlook the disadvantages of nuisances such as smoke from trains, noise from heavy traffic or obnoxious odors originating from industrial plants or refuse dumps.

While these are sometimes unavoidable in certain areas, thought should be given to selecting an area where they are minimized or not totally eliminated.

Under the headings of services, utilities and improvements, investigate such matters as garbage collection, telephone service, electricity, water supply and road conditions.

In considering home-ownership the importance of neighborhood selection should not be overlooked. Careful examination of the community before building or buying will require a little time and effort but it is a form of investment insurance that pays dividends in greater living satisfaction.

Beautification Drive Pressed

Jaycees Get Co-operation From Many Associations

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada, in its untiring efforts to stimulate Dominion-wide interest in the national beautification campaign, has been fortunate.

Fortunate in securing the full co-operation, participation and support of such bodies as the Canadian Good Roads Association, Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, Canadian Travel Bureau, the Field Service Department of the Chamber of Commerce, Department of National Health and Welfare, the Department of Finance, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and such trade associations as the Manufacturers' Association, Electrical Association, Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association and Association of Broadcasters.

These and many others are giving their whole-hearted support to this great national movement.

SCHOOLS CANVASSED

Women's organizations throughout the country have pledged their co-operation and schoolboards have been approached with a view to having the story of "clean-up" promoted among school children to encourage them to take part in this valuable work.

Evidence of growing interest in the campaign are visible on all sides and not the least encouraging signs of the anticipated success of the 1949 campaign are two letters received from the prime minister, Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, and from the Minister of National Health and Welfare, Rt. Hon. Paul Martin. These are strong indications of the value which the government places on the work of beautification.

NOBLE AIM

The prime minister, for example writes in part:

"The campaign is entirely disinterested and merits the widest support. Its aim—the beautification of our country—is a noble one which seeks to benefit Canada."

"I wish to congratulate the Junior Chamber of Commerce for setting such a fine example of good citizenship. I offer my best wishes for success in that campaign."

Alternatively, while he makes mention of the importance of good citizenship, Mr. Martin pays particular attention to the vital part which the campaign can play in improving the health of the Canadian people.

"Since the relationship of environment of health cannot be over-emphasized, public health authorities of Canada approve heartily of the national beautification campaign."

Care of Brush Painters' Must

If you're a "paint-up" enthusiast, the paint brush will be one of your most valuable possessions. Here are a few "don'ts" that will help you to keep brushes in good shape. Never use a brush edgewise. This causes the brush to "finger", results in a poor paint job and causes the brush to wear off at the corners.

Never press a brush hard against the surface being painted.

Never paint with the whole brush. Use only about one-half of the length of the bristle. Paint with smooth, even strokes. Using the whole brush tends to break or wear off the bristles at the heel of the brush.

Never use a large brush for a small surface or a small brush for a large surface. Never use a large flat brush on pipes or on round surfaces. Such practice wears down a brush in the middle and renders it unsatisfactory for future use. Use a narrow flat brush or an oval varnish brush for such work.

Never pound, dab or force a brush into corners, small holes or crevices. Use a small brush or an old brush for such places. Never use a new brush on a rough surface for the first or even the second coat. Use a worn brush to start the job and reserve the new brush for the finishing coat.

Always select and use the right brush for the job.

Roof Care Is Vital

The approach of fall marks the logical time for examination of the roof to make sure that all is snug there for the winter. Often "a stitch in time" can be taken by prompt use of roofing cements and roofing paints.

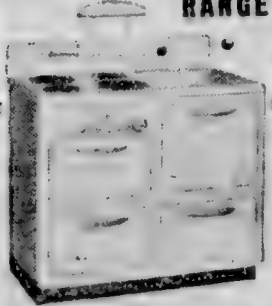

Unless trouble is checked immediately, water may penetrate into the home and cause many times the expense of repairing the original fault. Water penetrating through the roof can cause boards to swell and pull away from their fastenings. It also may result in plaster falling from walls or ceiling or acquiring stains that will mean re-finishing jobs in the future.

Isley Named To N.S. Bench

OTTAWA, May 28. — (CP) — Rt. Hon. J. L. Isley, former justice minister, yesterday was appointed a judge of the Supreme Court of his native province of Nova Scotia. Announcement of Mr. Isley's appointment was made by Justice Minister Garson. He replaces Justice R. H. Graham, who retires from the bench.

Mr. Isley, a 55-year-old lawyer who returned to private practice in Montreal last summer following a 22-year political career that took him through three cabinet appointments, now is counsel for the Royal Commission on Transportation.

Community Beauty Needs Co-Operation of Everyone

What is a beautiful community? That question comes to mind because of the 1949 National Beautification Campaign.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce in Edmonton are currently sponsoring a cleanup and beautifying campaign in an effort to make this city one of the finest in Canada.

The campaign slogan is "Beautify Canada By Beautifying Your Community," yet how many of us ever stop to consider just what the words "beautiful community" really signify.

Generally speaking, a community takes in a group of homes and the organizations and agencies required to serve the families living in those homes.

Thus we have a school, a recreational centre, possibly a theatre, and a shopping centre. Under ideal circumstances, in a progressive, forward-looking municipality, such a community is planned to give the utmost pleasure and be of the maximum efficiency to the residents. Architecture may vary as to line and form, but there will be a conformity as to style.

Houses are spaced to give plenty of freedom.

NOT UNIFORM

Building lots are not of uniform size and shape, thus lending a variety which is pleasing to the eye and permitting of imaginative landscaping and the introduction of distinctive gardening features in individual dwellings. A planned community of this type, while it would seem to be an idealistic dream, is an actual fact.

Still, it is not the good fortune of the majority to live in such communities, but with the "ideal" as a yardstick perhaps we can promote improvements in our own communities which will make them better, happier, more efficient places in which to live.

The heart of a community would seem to be the shopping center. It is the responsibility of the local merchants to make it as pleasing a district as possible. New store fronts may be too costly to consider, but a little paint can do much to improve the outward appearance.

Inwardly, a store can be as streamlined as tomorrow, as pleasing and convenient a place to shop as the proprietor desires. Careful attendance to display materials, and avoidance of overcrowding on shelves and in showcases will do much to step up visual appeal and improve appearance. Lighting is an important feature of the modern store that should not be overlooked. And courtesy, which is one of the greatest attributes a merchant has at his command, costs nothing at all.

The streets in the shopping district should be kept neat and tidy and if possible the merchants should attempt to develop a parking-lot system. Not only will this last help to keep the street neater, but it will also encourage business.

And going down the streets to the homes in the community, we come to the householder.

His responsibility to himself, his neighbours and the community, rests in improving the appearance of his home, his front and back garden, and his fences.

No one else will do it for him—it is the individual effort towards the good of the community (multiplied many times) which brings results.

FULL TIME JOB

The yearly Beautification Campaign can lend an impetus at this season of the year, but to keep a community in a good state of repair is a year 'round job, resting not on the shoulders of any one person, but on the collective shoulders of the group.

Thus while we may not live in a planned community, a "planned" effort can make it a beautiful community and one of which we can be justly proud.

Kitchen Planning Can Save Labor

Think of a kitchen where lovely harmonious color predominates; where gleaming work surfaces beckon culinary adventure; where the sparkling sheer of cabinets, sink and appliances make the room as charming as any living room that you could picture.

That's what kitchen planning can do.

And the beauty of it is that even the most modest home can enjoy a kitchen like this... so wonderfully convenient that bothersome kitchen chores are practically eliminated.

It's simple and easy to follow the principles of kitchen planning, because these principles have already been worked out by skilled household science experts, and are all ready for you to use. They can be applied to any kitchen regardless of its size, shape or contour, because the order or the various units, or the extent of those units remain the same.

THREE CENTRES

Every kitchen, large or small, has three main work centres. Something of this order of centres has always been used but not with full knowledge of their place and relative importance. They are (1) The refrigeration and preparation centre; (2) The sink and work centre; (3) The range and serving centre.

The refrigeration and preparation centre should include the refrigerator placed close to the outside delivery entrance to the kitchen. Around this unit should be ample cabinet storage space and adequate work surfaces. Upper cabinets should be devoted to staple foods, spices, extracts, canned goods. Base cabinets are for pans, flour, sugar, etc.—all situated at the point of first use.

WELL PLANNED

This centre is planned with the idea of food preservation and conservation. It is the food warehouse of your home.

The sink and work centre is the axis of your planned kitchen. Here is where you prepare vegetables, where most kitchen operations begin and end. Foods pass in logical order from refrigerator to this section, which acts as a "go-between" from refrigerator to range. A modern sink, dishwasher and mixing machine may be incorporated into this unit. Or you may have the sink alone, should your budget allow only the essentials.

The range and serving centre is next, with the range nearest the dining room. This is your meal's final preparation and serving point, with utensils easily accessible at the time they are required. Cabinets and drawers should include a place for everything—and everything in its place.

Kitchen designers have arrived at the fact that all kitchens may be classified under one of three general designs. Regardless of entrances, windows, opening or peculiar shapes, the kitchen you contemplate for your new home, or the modernized version of your present kitchen, will belong to one of these groups.

Gas Company Sees Need For More Facilities

Northwestern Utilities Limited will obtain over 3,000 extra domestic users of natural gas in Edmonton this year.

Total for the entire system will be over 4,000 domestic users.

The company is not able to cope with all demand.

Crews are working in various parts of the city, however, and the company hopes to finish its expansion program this year. In the city proper about $750,000 is being spent in 1949.

Next month the new north yard warehouse on 105 and 106 avenues between 112 and 113 streets, will be completed. For use as a stock room, for pipe and major equipment storage, etc., it has cost somewhat over $200,000.

ALL LINES

The company is presently taking care of all extensions on all lines which are economically sound. The last 17 miles of the three lines from Viking to Edmonton will start next July.

A compressor is also being constructed at Poe to take off the main line and serve the district between Camrose and Red Deer.

Labor employed has depended considerably on availability of materials, which so far have handicapped expansion, but the situation now is materially improving.

BEST IN THE WEST could be applied to this new Edmonton school now under construction in the Victoria park district. Nearly completed and opening in September is the first unit at left, containing shops and classrooms. Opening for the following year is the second unit, housing a gymnasium, swimming pool, cafeteria and auditorium. School will accommodate up to 11,000 pupils.

Always Clean Wood Surface

Before attempting to refinish gouged, scratched or dented furniture or woodwork, remove all of the old finish with paint remover, and then wash the surface absolutely clean of any residue of the remover, with a liberal application of turpentine or mineral spirits. It is imperative that every trace of the remover be taken off, or the new finish will not adhere properly to the surface.

If the openings in the wood are deep, fill with plastic wood, let dry according to the directions on the container, and then sandpaper the surface until it is smooth. If the openings are not deep enough for the use of plastic wood, ask your paint dealer to sell you one of the various compounds suitable for filling small dents and scratches in wood, and be sure to follow the directions.

Rub the surface smooth with a

Now a new electronic device takes the last bit of guess-work out of the job. The small, moderately priced moisture detector records instantly whether or not the surface is dry enough to paint.

Lumber Supplies In Good Shape

Local Dealers Report No Shortages in City

Lumber here is in better supply at present than it has been for years, according to Donald MacKay, secretary of the Alberta Lumber Dealers Association.

Western white spruce, most used for general construction, is in good supply in dry condition, but is expected to be short again by fall.

Shingles are also plentiful, but fir and finishing woods for stepping window jam etc. are still difficult to get.

Hard woods—oak and maple, obtained from the east—are also hard to obtain.

For windows and doors, local factories supply local needs, or extras may be readily supplied from outside.

Lumber demand slumped considerably during the winter months, which is customary, and is now picking up considerably.

PRODUCTION UP

Manufacturers here produce more than the Edmonton market can consume in spite of great expansion, as products are shipped to markets all over Canada and the United States.

The American market has fallen off but Canadian markets are picking up considerably.

Rain helps lumber dealers as well as farmers, for whenever rain falls on dry land, sales pick up considerably.

If the farmer is faced with drought he becomes pessimistic and this is reflected in building plans, but if he has prospects of a good crop his growing optimism is soon indicated by an upswing in lumber sales to rural areas, dealers say.

About 90 per cent of lumber is sawed during winter months and shipped during the summer. For that reason, lumber dealers' stocks are usually down in the fall; but at present supply is more than adequate for local needs.

OUR EASY PLAN

To eliminate the monotony of rows of houses with the same general appearance and design we will build any plan conforming to N.H.A. specifications and at a price competitive to any other program on the market.

Our property is located in a district that cannot be compared with any other community in respect to soil condition, drainage, condition of streets and avenues and general appearance. This is a district that is fast becoming one of the showplaces of Edmonton. And it is only seven minutes from the centre of the city. Modern shopping centres are close at hand and a five-minute bus service gives you direct access to town.

We know you'll like this property and we can build you that dream house you've been planning at a very low down payment. Our modern building methods combined with sensible buying standards are designed to save you money without sacrificing materials or workmanship.

Your inquiries are cordially invited.

Expanding to Meet the Needs of a Greater Edmonton

Home Owners Set For Paint Spree

Interesting Designs Whet Desire To Do It Yourself

With the great increase in the production of unpainted furniture, the home owner is showing more and more interest in the art of furniture finishing.

Whereas it was once just a matter of a paint brush and a can of paint, today he is working out interesting designs and color schemes that make the furnishings more livable and frequently make it impossible to tell them from the factory-produced article.

If you're planning to finish or for that matter refinish some furniture, here are a few practical hints.

ANTIQUING OR COLOR GLAZING

First step is to select the right shade of paint or enamel for the overall job. Apply this and, when it is thoroughly dry, the job of antiquing begins. This consists of applying a shaded color finish to the painted, enameled or stained surface. To antique an object you merely brush an "antique glaze" over the surface to be antiqued, then wipe most of it off except that which naturally remains in depressions or carvings, etc.

A simple household antique glaze (enough to antique a large table) may be prepared from one tablespoonful of clear varnish, three tablespoonfuls of turpentine, one and one-half teaspoonfuls oil color raw umber, add more or less oil color for a deeper or lighter antique. On very small objects apply this glaze over the entire surface to be antiqued, then wipe immediately.

On large objects, such as a bureau, antique a section at a time, completing each drawer front, top, side, etc. This treatment may be used for antiquing white, ivory and other light backgrounds, plain or decorated.

For a yellower glaze, use raw sienna instead of umber. Antique dark backgrounds with an antique glaze made of lampblack. This shaded color, to the depth and intensity you desire, can be applied with a piece of cheesecloth and, when properly done, can produce charming effects on a hanging corner bookcase, a magazine rack or a corner cupboard.

STENCILS

A very effective system of decorating chairs, headboards of beds, cabinet doors, bureau drawers, doors, etc., is the old stencil method dating from very early times.

First of all a highly-colored basic coat is applied—blues, pinks, yellows, pale greys—over which formalized designs may be stencilled in contrasting colors, sometimes in a flower motif, sometimes in a geometrical pattern. This type of treatment lends itself very well to decoration in the small home of the Colonial type and is not particularly difficult to do.

LUMINOUS COATINGS

An interesting and useful effect can be made of luminous paint on night tables. It's only necessary to treat the top. Two white coats, either flat paint or undercoater are applied, then the finish coat of phosphorescent material.

For protective purposes, a very pale varnish can be brushed on as a final coat or a piece of glass the exact size of the table top should be used. Each night after the electric light has been switched off the table top will give a soft attractive glow for as long as twelve hours. The legs and upper section of the night table may be painted to conform to the color scheme of the room.

COLOR SCHEME

When selecting the color scheme for your furniture, consider the color of the room. One good system is to select the complementary color of your walls or a color high-light in curtains or upholstery may suggest the right color.

Bright colors are most effective in a room with only one or two dominant hues. That is why painted furniture generally fits so well into a kitchen or dinette. Such interiors usually have only a few colors. A kitchen with cream or white walls, white equipment and a dark red linoleum floor can have blue, yellow or green furniture or variations of these basic shades.

If you're not particularly concerned about combining furniture color with the interior, choose the color which appeals to you most of all, or the one which is in vogue at the moment. Color cards of paint manufacturers will give you the clue as to this and if you can obtain a list of the new deep colors you may get some excellent suggestions. Grayed colors and pastel shades generally fit into a decorating scheme better than clear, bright colors.

Another possibility is in the mixed colors, which seem to have two hues. These are sometimes called "muted" colors and examples are yellow-orange, turquoise or peach (pink and yellow).

There are at least 1,500 known varieties of mosquitoes.

Sheer, strong nylon lace curtains wash like a handkerchief.

Roof Paint

An aluminum roof paint, applied over existing types of roofs is said to keep the home as much as fifteen degrees cooler in hot weather. The action of the paint is attributed to reflection—it reflects the hot sun rays away instead of absorbing them into the roof.

Here Are Some Tips That Will Floor You

The perfection of new type of floor coverings has changed thinking about floors.

The modern planner says that for bedrooms, where traffic is not heavy, comfort and quietness can be placed before durability in importance.

In the living room, appearance is paramount. In bathrooms, kitchens, laundries, playrooms, water-resistance and durability get top priority.

Subflooring determines the type of finished floor to a great extent. Concrete basement floors, for example, can be covered practicably with asphalt tile.

This material is not affected by moisture and can be laid in a bed of asphalt cement. Linoleum can be used if the cellar floor has been properly built on a bed of well-drained cinders and is permanently dry. In this case, linoleum can be laid on felt, but dampness will rot it.

When a house is built on a concrete slab with radiant heating coils embedded, the thinner the finish floor, the more efficient the heating plant will be. For this reason asphalt tile often is used.

A good subfloor can be obtained for linoleum in kitchens, or other rooms with beamed frame floor construction, with sheets of structural plywood. This eliminates seams and cracks and considerably lengthens the life of linoleum.

When subfloors are laid with boards, diagonal construction is preferred over subfloors laid at right angles to joists.

Modified Modern Houses Seen as Coming Favorite

A modified modern style of architecture is going to be America's favorite 10 years from now, according to architects interviewed in a survey taken to gather information about building trends.

The architects were asked this question: "Keeping in mind developments in mechanical equipment and construction materials, what style house do you believe will be predominant 10 years from now?"

Of the 386 architects who answered, 121 gave modified modern as their choice. The next six styles, in order, were modern ranch house, colonial, contemporary, Cape Cod, and modified conventional.

One architect answered "Caves." Asked to list the current house styles preferred by their clients, the architects gave first place to ranch house. Others were modified modern, Cape Cod, American farm house, modern, Georgian and southern colonial.

Cape Cod ranked first among builders, who were asked to name the styles of houses they are constructing now. Ranch house was second and modified modern third.

A motor-driven device has been developed to turn book pages for crippled veterans.

Plan Changes In Pictures

There was a time when interior decorators would plan the whole color scheme around the colors in a picture. The background of the picture might supply them with the basic color for the walls, the bright spots such as brightly colored flowers or costumes would give them the colors for accent in drapery and upholstery materials.

However, there has come about a change in this idea.

To a certain extent it is still used but now greater use is being made to paintings as accents in decorating.

Colors now are not necessarily related to pictures in a room, in fact most decorators avoid this practice. If a room is done in soft tones of blue, grey, yellow or buff, they may have rug and drapes in soft tones close to the shade of the wall.

This tends to "push out" the walls giving the room a more spacious quality than it would otherwise have.

Proper Insulation Will Cut Fuel Bill

Does your house leak dollars? Will you burn up tons of coal or oil to heat the winter winds?

An authority points out that the first consideration in keeping your fuel bill to a minimum is an efficient heating system, but to obtain full benefit from such a system, the house must be effectively insulated.

Insulation of a house may save more than one-third of the cost of fuels. Heat loss in a home may result from heat transmission through the walls and windows, and by infiltration of cold air through walls and cracks around doors and windows.

STORM WINDOWS

Storm windows will reduce heat transmission through the glass, although they do not reduce infiltration of air around ill-fitting sashes.

The cracks around windows and doors provide a constant leakage of cold air into the home, and escape of warm air. The way in which doors and windows close and fit will have a considerable influence on the leakage.

The leakage will be high if the sashes of the windows are short, if the meeting rail members are warped, or if the frame and sash are not fitted squarely to each other.

LOCK WINDOWS

Locking a window generally decreases its leakage, but in some cases may push the meeting rail members apart and increase the leakage. On windows with large clearances, locking will usually reduce the leakage, particularly with wood casement windows. Storm sashes do not reduce infiltration of air unless the windows fit very poorly.

Thatcher Wheat Proves Popular In North Alta.

Thatcher wheat is now the most popular variety in Northern Alberta. This is shown in survey made by the Alberta Wheat Pool which reveals that 40.1 per cent of this year's crop was sown to Thatcher wheat.

For many years Red Bobs has been the top wheat variety in this part of the province. This year however only 20.5 per cent of the acreage is allotted to Red Bobs. Cause of the decline is attributed to ruling of the Board of Grain Commissioners that protein contents of Red Bobs is not high enough to give it a better grade than 3 Northern.

Developed in the States, Thatcher is stem rust resistant and a good yielder.

Plans for a tot lot for Alberta Avenue kiddies will go through, it was decided at a short meeting of the district parents yesterday afternoon.

The new luminescent paints are different from the old-fashioned radio-active numerals used on alarm clocks. They light up only when "excited" either by visible or "black light".

There are two types. Fluorescent paints glow only when exposed to light. Phosphorescent paints continue to glow after the light is removed.

The new luminescent paints are activated by non-toxic pigments and even can be baked safely in porcelain enamel.

The duration and intensity of the afterglow of phosphorescent paints varies with the pigments used and with the amount of exposure to light.

Some, however, are visible to eyes adjusted to darkness for as long as 10 hours after direct light has been removed.

Architects expect these paints to play important safety roles. For example, a panel holding a fire extinguisher can make that device stand out in sharp silhouette in the dark.

Most For Money Is Problem

Efficient Plans Eliminate Trend Of Bad Goods

How to get the most house for the least money continues the number one problem of today's home builder.

Fortunately, the average owner-to-be realizes the folly of cutting costs through the use of inferior materials and equipment and looks instead to the economy of more efficient planning for his dollar conservation program.

One of the greatest single factors affecting the cost of a house is its overall shape. It can be readily seen that the cost of framing and enclosing the outside wall and roof areas is greatly increased through meaningless little projections, corners, recesses and angles added to the exterior just for appearances sake. They add plenty to your cost in foundations, plastering, roofing, framing, etc.—yet may provide not one added square foot of living space.

ECONOMICAL

The most economical shaped house to build is the square, providing the maximum amount of floor area with the least amount of wall area. While wings and whole-room projections are quite often justified and necessary, it will be readily seen that the square and rectangular shaped house will be less costly than the "L" and "T" or "U" shapes.

Roofing costs particularly are boosted when little breaks and corners and angles are incorporated for exterior appearance. Avoid trick interesting surfaces—that can easily add a good 10 per cent to total costs.

A graphic example of comparative roofing problems (or costs) may be obtained by making a cardboard model of a rectangular planned home. With rooms all within this area you will have no trouble fitting a sloping roof... but just try fitting on a roof to a model with a complicated plan with rooms jutting out here and there! Remember that every intersection where you have trouble fitting a roof on your model is going to cost you extra money.

SMALL ROOMS

While many prospective home builders have long dreamed of a low rambling design, it must be remembered that this type of construction is going to cost extra because of additional expense of excavation, foundation walls and roofs. The two-storey house will admittedly cost more for stairs and additional height of walls... still, these are not sufficient to offset the other savings.

Many Factors Set Price of Homes Refinements and Location Are Big Determining Items

What factors influence the selling price of a house?

The fact that a $25,000 house may be twice as large as the $8,000 house a few blocks away is only one reason why it costs more.

The higher-priced residence stands on a larger, more costly plot of ground in a more desirable location in the community; contains much more equipment and other fittings and refinements of higher quality, has an individual, custom-planned design not found in the low-priced home.

The $8,000 home occupies a plot seldom wider than 60 feet. The house contains an average of 800 square feet of living space, no more than two bedrooms and one white part-tiled bath.

The $25,000 house has 1,400 to 1,600 square feet of living space; three or more bedrooms and two or more colored fully-tiled bathrooms. This additional size alone adds $5,000 to $7,500 to construction cost.

Most zoning ordinances require that a house of this size shall occupy a plot 80 feet or more in width. This extra size may add up to $2,000 more to cost. If on a paved street, cost goes up another $1,000 to $1,500; proximity to a school may add $250 or more.

The small house usually is of frame construction or may have a front wall of masonry veneer. It lacks storm windows, has no garage. Included in its selling price are kitchen range of medium quality, laundry tubs, medium grade kitchen floor covering, a few built-in kitchen cabinets, automatic water heater and sometimes a refrigerator and automatic washer. There is no fireplace. The heating plant is small. Many small homes have no sub-flooring.

The price of the $25,000 home soars in $500 and $1,000 jumps when including a fireplace, top-quality hardware, slate or tile roof, outdoor terrace, garage, sliding closet doors, picture windows, basement recreation room, rare wood for interior trim and doors, air conditioning, complete automatic laundry, and large numbers of high-quality kitchen cabinets and other built-in features.

floor and horizontal wood siding for the second floor, a variation which tends to lower the apparent height of the building. In addition, the Ottawa owner introduced a canopy over the entrance, a desirable feature where the weather is variable and vigorous. Shutters were also added to the front windows.

SWANSON bungalow is an interesting adaptation of modern colonial and is suitable for a 75-foot lot. Exterior is face brick, has strong horizontal lines, generous windows. In planning all spans utilize stock timber lengths without waste. Where utility room is shown this might be changed to a library if full basement preferred. Second floor is amply large for two bedrooms and bath. This design was prepared for Bulletin readers by Harold C. Beckett, 52 Chatham Street West, Windsor, Ont.

It's Important To Know Some Building Terms

It is a good idea to know what your architect, lawyer, and builder are talking about. Some terms explain themselves. Others may be more difficult. Here is a list of some that may be encountered:

- Apron—A flat board of interior woodwork under a window stool.
- Bridging—Wood or metal braces between floor joists.
- Chase—Groove in masonry, usually to accommodate pipes.
- Coping—Cap on top of a wall to shed water.
- Cricket—Small roof behind a chimney to shed snow and water.
- Dado—Molding around lower part of a wall; a chair rail or low wainscot.
- Door Butt—A hinge secured to the edge of a door.
- Easement—A right to use land, other than as tenant, for a specific purpose, such as passage.
- Encumbrance—Interest or right in property that does not prevent sale, such as restrictions, easements and reservations, as well as mortgages, taxes and judgments, which are both liens and encumbrances.
- Escutcheon—Metal shield around keyhole or doorknob.
- Fire Stop—Any solid, tight closing between walls or doors to prevent rapid spread of fire. Usually a board.
- Flashing—Metal strips or other sealing of joints in a roof, in valleys and around chimney; also around doors and windows.
- Footing—A spread base for a foundation or column.
- Furring—Wood or metal strips holding a plastered wall away from

- masonry or ceiling.
- Header—A beam across the end of joists, such as one framing a stair opening.
- Leader—A downspout, eaves drain, roof drain or conductor, variously known in different sections of the country.
- Lintel—Horizontal structural member over door or window opening.
- Meeting Rail—Cross bar holding lock in middle of a double hung window.

Shiny Spots Are Annoying

Shiny spots on newly painted surfaces, or "shiners" as they are sometimes called in the trade, can be of considerable annoyance especially when they appear on what is supposed to be a semi-gloss or flat painted surface.

Generally speaking, these spots are due to improper brushing or over-brushing in the areas where the "shiners" show.

If there is only a limited quantity of oil in the paint and some areas are brushed more than others, the oil is brushed out of the paint to some extent and comes to the surface. Since it can't get back into the paint without stirring, it dries near the surface and forms a glossy spot or "shiner".

Failure to keep the paint well stirred may also bring this result, and another thing must be watched is to keep all edges wet at all times.

If the paint becomes nearly set on a lap before the next section of the coating is applied, "shiners" are likely to develop.

Your Painting Job Is for an Expert

The quickest and most effective way to modernize a home is to paint it.

This is not as simple a chore as most householders assume. Sure, you can paint your own home, but whether the paint will stay on, or ruin the surface for a good paint job, is another matter. It is safer and cheaper in the long run to contract to have the work done properly by an established and experienced painter.

A good exterior paint job of three coats for an average size six-room house should last from four to six years.

CHECK REPUTATION

Before you hire a painting contractor, make sure of his reputation.

Get references on his work and learn something of his standing in your community.

Not all painters are master painters. Many have bought a couple of brushes, a few cans of paint and a sign and have set themselves up in a business for which they have neither training nor aptitude.

A master painter is a craftsman selected on the basis of quality workmanship by a committee of the Association of Master Painters and Decorators of America, a craft organization.

DON'T TALK DOWN

When you have selected a reliable painter, it is wise not to "talk down" his price. If he is a good painter he is working on his reputation and that includes economy in his work.

Also, don't demand a rush job. Usually it takes four men up to a week to apply each coat to an average six-room frame dwelling, and 10 days to two weeks should be allowed for drying for each coat.

If a house is very dirty because of nearby railroad tracks, factories, or oil burning equipment, it should be washed before painting to enable the paint to bind properly.

Mildew must be removed and sources that cause it from moisture leakage should be eliminated by a carpenter.

The largest single recovery project in Britain is the new iron and steel works near Margam, in South Wales.

Lumber Industry Returns to Normal

SEATTLE, May 28.—(UP)—with lumber production now caught up with demand, the lumber industry is the first of all major industries to show signs of returning to normal.

That is the opinion of H. V. Simpson, executive vice-president of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association. Simpson pointed out that busy Douglas fir sawmills in Oregon and Washington last year turned out the most valuable single years output in the industry's history.

TOTAL VALUE

The total value of the year's manufactured products was $677,250,000, with 90 per cent of that amount representing new money brought into the two states. Production, measured in board feet, totaled 8,500,000,000 during 1948 in western Oregon and Washington.

Simpson said the biggest development in the industry has been in better forest utilization. He said the strong demand, both during the war and after, has made it profitable for loggers to market parts of trees that they previously had thrown away as waste.

MORE WOOD AVAILABLE

Simpson said the west coast lumber industry is producing 2,000,000,000 board feet a year of this type of inexpensive low-grade lumber. He said this increased utilization means that Douglas fir forests actually contain 25 per cent more

Killam Tennis Club Reorganizes

KILLAM, May 28.—Meeting of the Killam Tennis Club was held recently in the fire hall with a fairly good attendance.

The president, Craig Lawson, presided. Election of officers resulted in the following: president, Lloyd Ewasluk, vice-president, Craig Lawson, secretary-treasurer, Joan Roberts.

A short meeting followed and it was decided that work on the court should be started immediately. A ground committee was appointed consisting of Hugh Walker and Lloyd Ewasluk. The committee in charge of the tournament is Doris Sherwood and Hugh Walker.

It was also decided that there should be no dues. Anyone wishing to play tennis and join the club should sign their names to the list of tennis players in the post office.

wood volume than they did before.

Another big improvement in the industry, he added, has been the tree farm program, which has spread from the west coast region into 22 states since 1941.

Simpson also praised the "keep green" movement of Pacific north states, which he said has held losses that result from man-caused fires to a very low figure.

Simpson said the lumber industry would be able to fill all orders for home building or industry during 1949.

The circulation of the blood was first demonstrated by Harvey in 1628.

Planted Grounds Increase Value

Well Groomed Gardens Can Enhance Any Fine Home

Few things pay such great and continuous dividends of genuine satisfaction as well planted home grounds.

There is the joy of creating, beauty, the knowledge that the appearance of your home place is such that it will bear inspection of friends, neighbors and passers-by. Moreover, there is a tremendous satisfaction in knowing that your grounds give unmistakable evidence of good taste, culture and refinement. These, together with the joy of living amid beautiful surroundings, repay you a hundredfold for the small investment of money and time required.

INCREASE VALUE

It is interesting to know that, in addition to the enjoyment derived from well planted grounds, every tree hedge, plant and vine you plant adds far more to the value of your property than its cost.

In fact you are actually paid for making your home attractive, not alone by the added pleasure and satisfaction of living in cheerful surroundings, but in actual dollars and cents. By making your property more attractive, you make it more valuable.

Any real estate authority will tell you that a well planted place will bring far more money, if offered for sale or for rent, than the same place unplanted or poorly planted.

The modern way of planting is to plant the whole grounds, not just the foundation alone. Where space permits, the lot is divided by planting into such portions as the front yard or public area, side yard or semi-public area, the rear yard or private area and the service area.

BEFORE YOU PLANT

To plan the grounds in this way you should make a little sketch plan, for it is easier to make changes with an eraser than to move plants after they are established.

lished. It need be only crudely drawn, but let it represent your own idea of how your place can look.

You will be surprised to see how much farther the dollar goes in buying plants for outdoor furnishings as compared by buying furnishings for the house.

Most houses appear bare and cold without the softening influence of planting about the house shrubs and other plants to take foundation.

Use graceful flowering away the abrupt and harsh separation of house and grounds. The fragrance of flowers, the color and texture of foliage, the contrast of twig and berry are but part of the beauty you will enjoy from plants in the foundation planting. Every home needs careful planting.

HOMES BY SCHADECK cover an area of more than four city blocks in Edmonton's West End. Under early stages of construction is this row of bungalow and semi-bungalow style homes on 102A avenue are a few of more than 40 homes being erected by John Schadeck, veteran Edmonton builder.

NEARING COMPLETION is this row of homes by John Schadeck in Edmonton's West End. The houses, a few of 40 under construction in the district, are moderately priced and available on the long term payment system. More Schadeck homes, totaling 100, are expected to be finished by the end of the year.

Industrial Leader Sees Bright Future in City

By G. W. Curtis
Edmonton Industrial Commissioner

Edmonton, capital city of Alberta and its largest, continues to show phenomenal and steady development of industrial activities.

Although recent discoveries of three major oil fields in the Edmonton area has stimulated the industrial growth of Edmonton to an enormous extent during the past six months, the city has, for the last 15 years shown a steady and consistent growth reflected in bank clearings, population gains and an increase in building permits.

The spectacular growth of Edmonton, is due in a great part, to its unique geographical location, for not only is it the centre of one of the richest agricultural areas on the continent, but also surrounded by one of nature's greatest store houses of valuable natural resources such as natural gas, oil, coal, salt, etc., so necessary to modern industry.

The discovery of oil in the Edmonton area has, of course, activated sensational industrial progress.

Records show that a great number of new industrial firms have located in Edmonton. In 1948 over 50 firms of all types including industries, warehouses and offices connected with the oil business established themselves.

BIG ADVANCE

Highlight of this activity was the erection of the mighty $10,000,000 Imperial Oil refinery at Edmonton last year and now in full operation. McColl-Frontenac are also building a large refinery adjacent to Imperial which will be completed in 1949.

The city will also have the lion's share of the development of the proposed $450,000,000 natural gas pipelines if the province exports to other provinces.

Imperial Oil's pipeline costing $35,000,000 will be started in 1949 to be completed by 1950 carrying oil to refineries in Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and eventually across the U.S. border.

Building is almost unbelievable. Everywhere is seen buildings under construction. Major buildings being erected are the $2,000,000 University Hospital; $1,500,000 University Library; a $500,000 CNR freight terminus; $500,000 postal centre at CNR depot; $300,000 Gault's warehouse; $250,000 Woodward's warehouse; $300,000 Union Bus Depot and a large extension to the Royal Bank, Bank of Toronto and Bank of Montreal.

The city is soon to see the start of work on a new $8,000,000 18-storey hotel and a $4,000,000 extension to the CNR Macdonald hotel.

Other large buildings going up are the $4,000,000 Federal Administration Building as well as dozens of extensions to various retail stores.

OVER FIVE YEARS

The statistics on official building permits show that Edmonton issued permits to the value of $69,073,000 in the past five years. Yearly breakdown is as follows: 1944, $5,759,105; 1945, $7,988,348; 1946, $15,020,453; 1947, $13,182,665; 1948, $27,123,329. For the first three months of 1949 the figure is already $5,075,140. Construction has increased over five times in five years.

Bank clearings reflect the true picture of Edmonton's business turnover. Official figures show that Edmonton's business has increased from 1940 when it was slightly over 200 millions to well over 850 millions in 1948. Bank clearing figures are as follows:

1941	265,023,348
1942	323,049,992
1943	433,430,208
1944	486,241,682
1945	519,366,233
1946	635,178,110
1947	699,452,974
1948	866,718,439

Bank clearings for the first three months of 1949 are $235,463,317.

POPULATION UP

The city's population has been constantly increasing from 1940. Yearly increases have been made with 91,723 in 1940, 95,725 in 1942, 106,416 in 1944, 118,541 in 1947 and officially taken in 1948 as 126,609. Steady increases in 1949 predict another record population figure in 1949.

Edmonton has established itself as Canada's oil capital with the discovery last year of three major oilfields at Leduc-Calmair, Redwater and Schoep, "Golden Spike," all within the radius of 50 miles of Edmonton.

The latter field is as great a discovery as the immense Texas oil fields—the total oil discovery at Edmonton being of such magnitude as to favorably affect the entire economy of Canada and to swing Canada into the position of being an oil exporting nation when refinery and pipe line facilities catch up with supply.

An allied industry is soon to commence on the outskirts of Edmonton with the erection of a three million dollar refinery for the extraction of propane gas, etc.

NOT TOO BRIGHT

It is almost impossible to paint too bright a picture of the industrial future of Edmonton. It may be expected that a much greater

City Builder Has Fine Ambitions

100 Homes A Year Is Target of John Schadeck

To build more than a 100 homes a year is the ambition of Edmonton contractor John Schadeck.

Himself responsible for the construction of 800 homes during his years of city building, Mr. Schadeck is firm believer in free enterprise to benefit the man with the small income.

A native of Medicine Hat, he started his building career at 16, when he first came to the city.

GOES TO COAST

Some time before the war he had established his own business, but gave it up shortly after the outbreak of hostilities to work on war projects along the Pacific Coast.

Prior to the war he specialized in his pet line of home building, but had constructed several large city buildings such as St. Peter's Lutheran church, the Northern Hardware building, and B. A. Moir Plumbing premises.

BIG VENTURE

Housing, he regards, as a national venture demanding the best available material and workmanship. He is particularly keen on integrated homes for the smaller income group.

His policy is to built well-constructed homes to withstand usage and the passing of time. A house, he believes, should be a lifetime investment to the prospective owner.

JOHN SCHADECK

Credit for his remarkable building achievements go, he says, to his key workers.

Wall Colors Need Choosing

The theory of graduated color is receiving increasing popularity in industrial plants and may conceivably find its way into the home.

In one large industrial plant, for example, walls are painted grey in graduated tones, starting with the dark shade at the bottom of the wall and proceeding upward progressively lighter to the ceiling. The purpose of this treatment is to concentrate the intensity of the light from above. Different colors are used for the end walls, some of which are painted pale blue and others pale yellow.

Cabinet Paint

Painting or enameling of the interiors of kitchen cabinets, cupboards and drawers is more than a matter of making them attractive when doors are open, although admittedly that is an important consideration. Finishing of the interiors of kitchen storage equipment with coatings that will stand frequent scrubbing is a definite aid to sanitation.

development of allied industries to oil will commence in 1949. The day and night operating oilfields are now bringing into production an estimated well every three days on the average to shatter all records for production in Canada.

Coupled with this is the vast agricultural revenue that flows into Edmonton from the rich farming areas surrounding the city. And the city, lying as it does at the gateway of the north and its mining riches, is on the threshold of development never before conceived.

This development is well served by the city's huge $10,000,000 airport, Canada's busiest. It handles more freight by air than any city in the world. Tonnage in 1948 hit new records—worth close to 20 millions to city business. Landings topped all North America in 1943 with 82,500 during the war. 1949 likely will reach close to 100,000.

The light which reflects from the surface of crystals is white when it enters, but is broken up into different colors by the cut edges.

THIS COMPACT HOUSE, designed by architects Wilson and Newton, is small, but also contains features of a larger house. Two bedrooms are located on ground floor, but if second floor is completed two more large bedrooms and a bathroom are available. Living-room is separated from dining room by a fireplace, thereby retaining its identity but still benefitting from the additional space. Small kitchen is convenient to both service entrance and centre hall. For estimating purposes, area of house is 1,340 square feet (including second floor). Working drawings may be obtained from any office of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

FACTS AND FIGURES ON CITY'S GROWTH

In 1939 Edmonton's population was divided into 28,752 males over 21 and 29,890 females, and 15,564 males under that age and 16,223 females. In 1948 figures were 40,846 males and 43,957 females over 21 and 29,653 males and 21,000 females under 21.

School attendance in 1939 was: Elementary, 8,875; Intermediate, 3,297; High School, 2,919; Technical, 375. In April, 1949: Elementary, 10,474; Intermediate, 3,240; High School, 2,490; Technical School, 930. University students numbered 2,173 in 1938-39 and 6,752 in 1948-49.

In 1941 Edmonton had 15,543 male and 414 female wage earners, who made an average of $1,527 for male and $825 for female per annum. In 1948, this had increased to 19,576 male and 640 female wage earners, making $2,091 and $1,184 respectively on the average a year. More recent figures are not available.

Retail and wholesale sales had also increased: Retail, 1940, $43,062,934; 1947, $89,972,000. Wholesale, 1941, $41,334,000; 1948, approximately $165,000,000.

Plaster Poses Paint Problem

The subject of painting plaster, especially new plaster, is one which receives a lot of attention from the paint manufacturer and the painter alike. Of course, it is extremely unwise to paint "green" plaster until it has been properly treated, but even plaster which has been in place for some considerable time may "burn through" a paint job unless the surface is correctly prepared.

The first thing to do then is to neutralize the lime in the plaster. Apply a coat of zinc sulphate solution, made by adding four pounds of zinc crystals to one gallon of water and stirring until the crystals are dissolved.

Before the solution is applied, however, any rough portions of the plaster should be given a good brushing with a stiff brush or broom to remove all loose sand particles.

Let the job stand for two or three days following application of the zinc sulphate solution to give the chemicals sufficient time to neutralize the lime. Then, after the surface has been thoroughly dusted, it will be ready to receive a primer-sealer-coat oil paint.

Now is the Time to Re-Roof

two days right over

Builder Makes Answer to Critics

Method of Reporting Housing Draws Fire From City Builder

By Gordon Clark
President, Edmonton House Builders' Association

After a long campaign against the house building industry which it had accused of obsolete methods, reactionary thinking, and over pricing, Life magazine in a recent issue reversed its field and brought before the public a statement of the industry's accomplishments.

I am not much interested in the story which Life learned and told as in the fact that a great magazine for once went out and learned the truth about the building industry and then gave it to the public.

It is unfortunate that many articles and stories written about housing and the house building are written by people who appear to know very little about the problems involved.

The building of houses is a very complex process. To realize that fact we should consider that (1) a house is a highly complex unit made up of some 30,000 to 40,000 separate parts, (2) a house is not a separate article for it is linked physically and legally with the land on which it is built, and (3) because of its very permanence the house has been the victim of numerous building codes, regulations, taxes and laws which make it impossible for one man or one factory to produce an entire house.

SEEMS UNLIKELY

Because of those conditions it seems unlikely that houses will ever come off an assembly line as complete units ready for its occupants. With new materials and greater variety of designs, together with new building regulations, houses tend to become more individualized and consequently more expensive.

What then is the answer to public demand for a lower priced house? We already have part of the answer in these facts:

1. New and cheaper materials have gone a long way in the past few years to keep the cost of houses down to present levels. This trend should continue as the market for higher priced materials falls off.
2. The use of standardized parts may be accepted generally by the public thereby permitting a much greater amount of mass production for some parts of the house.
3. Greater cooperation by civic and other governments with the housing industry could mean lower priced houses. Houses built in Edmonton this year must sell for $100-$100 higher because the city increased the price of its lots by that amount. More flexible building codes could easily reduce costs and produce better houses in the low priced field.

CAN IMPROVE

We recognize that the house building industry can improve itself. At present thousands of individual builders are producing houses in Canada.

Each strives to solve his problems in his own way, learning little or nothing from other builders, and contributing nothing of his valuable and hard-won experience to his fellow builders.

This situation is being changed. Associations of House Builders are in being or being formed in the principal centres of Canada, all affiliated with the National House Builders' Association.

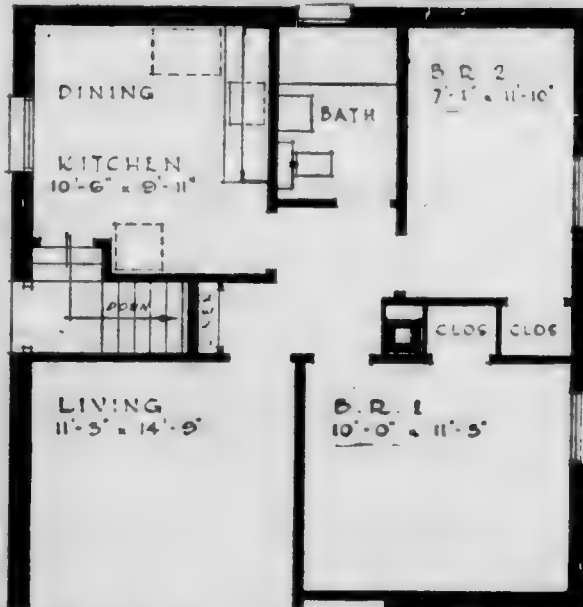

The House Building Industry has made great forward strides in the improvement of houses. Like most other industries it has been carried along in the inflation and its selling prices have risen to keep ahead of costs. But the price of houses has increased less in proportion than have the costs of other essential requirements. More important, the quality of today's house is much greater than that of houses built only a decade ago. Anyone can make that comparison for himself or he can easily find a builder who will show him the difference.

Almost everything is better in the 1949 house. Concrete mixes, electric wiring, plumbing and plumbing fixtures, insulation, roofing, paints and so through a long list, are all superior to what we had even a few years ago.

NWAC Announces Staff Changes

Wing Commander W. C. Van Camp will become senior personnel staff officer here, replacing Group Captain F. S. Carpenter, North West Air Command headquarters announced today.

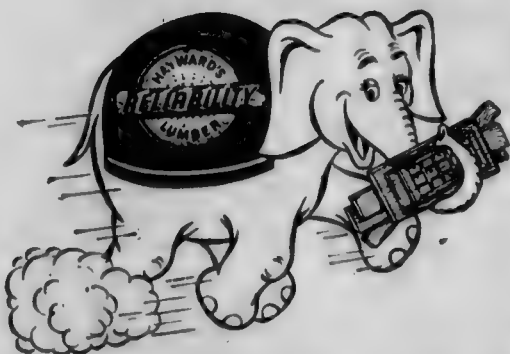

G. C. Carpenter will serve as Senior Air Staff officer at Trenton, effective August 11.

ENTRANCE to this attractive four-roomed bungalow gives it a distinctly 'different' look and also does away with square appearance so common in this type of house. Drawing shows it in brick with contrasting gable of wood siding but dimensions on working drawings are arranged so that it may be built of frame, brick veneer, or solid masonry. Large, floor-length front window is a special feature of the 11'3" x 14'9" living room. Dining space is contained in the kitchen, and the floor-plan is completed by two bedrooms.

Milady of Today Is Justly Proud

Paint Works Wonders For Flattering Effect

When Milady of today stops to think about it she probably feels just a wee bit superior to women of the past when she considers the many ways in which specialized product finishes of the paint industry make her personal accessories and her surroundings more glamorous and colorful than in the past.

In many ways she is right, of course.

Quite aside from the flattering effects produced by softly painted walls and other surroundings, she benefits from the use of specialized paint products on her hats, her shoes, her millinery, her leather goods and accessories wherever she goes.

Her kitchen, too, is brighter and infinitely more easy to keep clean because of the wide variety of enamels and lacquers used in the finishing of many articles and utensils.

SHE'S WRONG

But if Milady thinks her's is the first generation to enjoy all these things, she's wrong. Women have benefitted by the colorful effects of paint products since time immemorial — although admittedly never to the extent of the women of today.

Queens, princesses and their courtiers far back in antiquity owed a share of their luxury to lacquers and enamels which were made by secret formulas and often with the aid of raw materials brought from far places—just as the raw materials of today's paint products are drawn from every corner of the earth and are produced by complex technical formulas.

The litters and chairs in which fine ladies reclined far back in the dim past were handsomely decorated with the best finishes of the times. Sometimes more than 30 coats of lacquer were applied to an article of value before the artisan and his customer were satisfied with the result. Walls of fine palaces and homes in ancient Egypt and Crete were lacquered and enameled in attractive colors.

WAY BACK WHEN

The use of such finishes continued through the middle ages and became stimulated in the post-Renaissance period. For instance, coaches used as far back as the days of Columbus were lavishly decorated. So, too, were the interiors of fine buildings. Furniture in particular gave scope to the artistic use of varnishes and colored lacquers; and toilet articles, snuff boxes, jewel cases, buttons and buckles, and even fabrics were painstakingly and beautifully decorated.

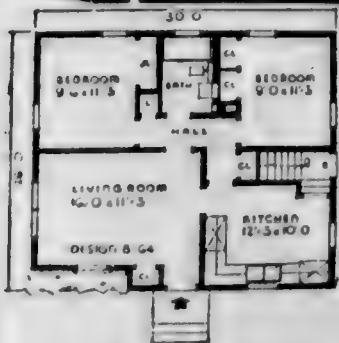

It was an expensive proposition in those days, of course—and in that respect the modern lady can feel that she is indeed infinitely better off than her predecessors.

SPRING CLEANING of your furnace isn't necessarily a job for housewife, but should it fall your lot, here's easy way to get it done in a hurry.

Care is Always Advised In Building of Ceilings

In planning a home, careful thought should be given to ceiling height, according to the building authorities.

Ceiling heights should be in keeping with the style and use of the room and in proportion to its size.

If rooms are small, a height slightly less than average should be used to make the room appear larger.

If large, an increased height will add to the appearance of the room.

A ceiling height of eight feet is generally satisfactory for the average home. From a practical standpoint the ceiling height should be sufficient to provide adequate headroom and free circulation of air.

Low ceilings are desirable from the standpoint of heating economy, especially in areas where heating costs are important considerations.

It is a general belief that high-ceilinged rooms are cooler in summer than those having a low ceiling.

Since the cooling of a room depends to a large extent upon circulation of air, little or no advantage is gained by an increased height unless the ventilating portions of the windows extend to a height of about one foot below the ceiling.

The eye is only an instrument of vision. Sight is a brain process dependent for its correct functioning on the normal reaction of the nervous system.

Blue Always Favorite Color

Blue was one of the first interior paint colors to make its appearance. An old recipe advises that it might best be prepared by "boiling slowly for three hours a pound of blue vitriol and one half pound of best whiting in about three quarts of water, etc." Similarly, a "fancy green" was made of unscorched pulverized coffee put into the white of an egg.

Formulas such as these were a far cry from the scientifically controlled preparation of paints in modern Canadian factories—and the difference in manufacture shows up in better wearing qualities, truer colors and a better paint job.

Always Cleanup Firebox

Once you turn it off in the spring it's easy to forget the hard work your furnace did all winter.

But old faithful will suffer more damage during its summer vacation than when it was running if you don't take care of it.

When the fire goes out, moisture is formed by the contact of warm air on the cool metal of the ducts, thus causing them to rust.

Dust tends to absorb and hold this rust-producing moisture, so all traces of dust and soot should be removed from the flue, smoke pipe and upper portions of heating plant with a wire brush. After cleaning, apply a thin coat of light oil with plant sprayer or oil gun.

CLOSE TIGHTLY

Close the furnace tightly when it's idle so no draft can go through the smoke pipe; this will also reduce the condensation inside the smoke pipe and heater.

Another way to keep out moisture is to use calcium chloride, a chemical that absorbs water from the air. This is placed in the fire pit in flake form, and renewed every few weeks to make up for loss due to liquefaction. The liquid formed is collected in a pan underneath the flake basket. Be careful how you dispose of it; calcium chloride kills vegetation.

The best protection for warm air pipes is to take them down after cleaning, store them in a dry place. The open ends of the pipes leading to the registers may then be stuffed with paper.

DON'T DRAIN

It isn't wise to drain a steam or hot-water boiler at the end of a heating season. The water already in the boiler has been heated repeatedly, and thus contains no free air to rust boiler or pipes. Draining and filling with fresh water in spring invites corrosion. Water may be added occasionally to keep the system completely filled.

If any trouble developed in your heating system during the winter, spring is a good time to call in your local heating contractor for an inspection. Otherwise you'll probably forget to do anything about it until it's time to put the furnace back to work again.

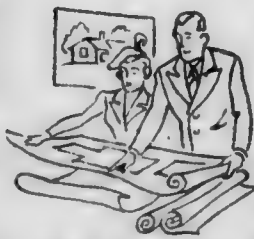

TINY SPOTS — Builders

Receding Tints Play Paint Tricks

Interior decorators have long been familiar with the painting trick of making small rooms appear larger by the use of light receding tints on walls and ceilings.

Now something new has been added — it has been found that painting the furniture the same color as the walls and ceiling will cause the room to appear still more spacious.

INTERIOR of this six-roomed house is as distinctive as its exterior. Designed by architects Wilson and Newton, its large bright living room is a special feature. Dining space is provided at the end of the 17' long kitchen for informal meals, but a door also leads to the living room which could provide additional space on occasion. There are large clothes closets in each of the three bedrooms on the second floor, with linen closets in the bathroom and off the hall. The dimensions of this house are approximately 31' wide by 21' deep.

Lacquer Finish Came After Much Research

Today the mirror-like lacquer finish on automobiles, furniture and hundreds of other manufactured articles is accepted as commonplace.

Yes less than thirty years ago this very finish posed a problem which was serious enough to threaten the mass production methods of that industrial era.

After the close of the First World War, when consumer goods were beginning to flow from the factories, manufacturers were bemoaning the fact that the enamels in use at the time took too long to dry and consequently slowed up production. In some cases, it took nearly a month for the various coats to be applied and to dry.

As a consequence, costs of goods were far higher than they should have been. The problem was submitted to the paint researchers for solving.

Fortunately great quantities of gun cotton and butyl alcohol had been stocked for the manufacture of explosives during the war years and were lying idle following the cessation of hostilities.

Utilizing these materials with the various esters and derivatives, the paint chemists after painstaking research evolved a quick-drying synthetic lacquers which solved the industrialists' problem and paved the way for higher production at low cost—at the same time using up war surplus materials and giving to the paint, varnish and lacquer industry a most valuable product.

Chemical analyses conducted by the Dominion department of agriculture on farm feedstuffs, fertilizers and pesticides total approximately 33,000 yearly.

Awnings Trim House Schemes

With the prospect of warmer days ahead, the homeowner is beginning to think more about the outside of his house rather than the interior "four walls" he has been looking at all winter.

"Landscaping and exterior decorating go hand in hand," says an authority, "a beautiful garden and a shabby house are as painful to the eye as a well-kept, bright-looking house set in a garden overrun with weeds and shaggy foliage. Even though we may not be able to afford to have the house painted, we can add to its appearance by inexpensive decorative effects. Among these are awnings."

SHOULD BLEND

Awnings, he suggests, should be chosen to blend with the color of the roof. Shingles in the various shades of green, red, blue and dark grey will determine the color scheme of the house, and the awnings are a garnish to enhance the effect.

To lend a note of gaiety to the home, awnings of Chinese Red will produce this effect. Maroon awnings will set off a roof of midnight blue and conversely, maroon asphalt shingles will respond to awnings of royal blue. Plain buff awnings will fit in very well with any color scheme.

NO CONTRACT TOO LARGE OR TOO SMALL

ALTHOUGH this Colonial type house is not large, its simplicity of line creates a dignified appearance. Designed by Wilson and Newton, Toronto architects, it is meant for a wide lot, with its wide frontage and fairly narrow depth. Perspective shows exterior wall finish as brick veneer but dimensions of the working drawings are so arranged that the house may be built of frame, brick veneer or solid masonry. Exterior dimensions are 30'10" x 18'8" and the total floor area for estimating purposes is 1,152 square feet.

Smooth Surface Most Important

"There is a growing vogue for home painting; and it can be fun," says Cleanliness Institute. "But before you start wickling that paint brush remember that you can't get the best results unless the surface to be painted is perfectly clean. Brushing paint over dirt may result in a patchy looking job, and after a while the paint will chip or 'alligator'. Do your best to insure success.

"Before you even open that can of paint, wash walls and wood surfaces. In washing walls remember to start at the bottom and work upward. This avoids streaking that would only make the painting harder. In painting wood surfaces, a clean smooth surface is of paramount importance."

The rocky crust of the earth is about 40 miles thick.

Homes Demand Splash Of Color, Expert Says

Women at present are at the mercy of a lot of fuddy-duddy decorators digging up the dead remains of the past and filling their homes with ferocious gadgets.

So says Elizabeth Banning, a young U.S. woman from out of the west, who has been busily revolutionizing industrial plants, offices, terminals and even homes by splashing them with broad expanses of daring color.

Miss Banning first came into the national eye during the war, when she proved to industrialists that workers' efficiency increased in direct proportion to the amount of cheerful color used on war plant interiors.

Just back from a quick tour of Europe, Miss Banning reports as follows:

"London is hungry for modern architecture, modern furniture, modern color.

"Italy is the most vital place in Europe, with new and modern buildings going up all over the place, sleek cars that outdo anything seen in America, fashions more distinguished than those of Paris.

"France has gone back to tying pink bows on furniture. It's just pretty fun-loving and relaxed.

"And New York is borrowing all the old ideas of Europe and ignoring the new."

All the real news in modern design is coming out of California, says Miss Banning, who predicts:

"If there ever is a renaissance of art in this country, it's going to start in California. There people aren't weighted down by tradition. They're not afraid to do things that are startling and new.

"After all, any new art form, however feeble, is better than an art that is dead."

Miss Banning attended the conference of the American Institute of Decorators in New York just before she took off for her flying tour of Europe.

Wallpaper Can Work Miracles

Dark, Dismal Rooms Blossom With Well-Chosen Coverings

Wallpaper, intelligently used can work miracles in the home.

By this we mean that a dark or dismal room may be miraculously brightened "to blossom like the rose," the startlingly bright room can be toned down or subdued a high ceiling lowered and the low one heightened, objectionable architectural features, angles, etc., modified or remedied, all by the well-advised use of wall-paper. Is it to be wondered that we describe it as working miracles?

HIGH CEILING PROBLEM

High ceilings are often found in the older type dwelling and are a decorating problem easily solved if one remembers the simple hard and fast rule that perpendicular lines will accentuate ceiling height and that horizontal lines of any kind will detract from the height of a ceiling, so in decorating such rooms, stripes, or designs that from vertical lines of any kind, are to be avoided and all-over designs or those having a tendency to produce horizontal lines are the logical choice.

DADO HELPS

If the ceilings are considered too high to be sufficiently lowered in effect by these methods, a dado around the lower part of the wall or a band of wallpaper in a semi-plain harmonizing color placed at the top of the wall and divided from the lower paper by a narrow border or moulding, will result in decided horizontal lines that will produce the desired effect.

A strip of ceiling paper of varying width around the top of the room meeting the sidewall and commonly referred to as a "Drop Ceiling" will also have the effect of lowering the apparent height of a room, but this treatment should only be used when such an effect is necessary.

LOW CEILING DIFFICULTY

The room with an abnormally low ceiling obviously calls for a reversal of this rule, using a striped paper or design forming perpendicular lines or one having a climbing or upward movement, and the wallpaper should be hung straight to the ceiling line without

A room containing objectionable architectural features, such as angles, jogs, and an excessive number of openings, etc., or likewise a room containing a miscellaneous collection of furniture and furnishings, calls for a wallpaper sufficiently interesting in itself to arrest and hold the eye which would ordinarily be held and impressed by the faults mentioned.

DEPTH ILLUSION

The small room and the narrow hall may be greatly improved by the use of any wallpaper which gives the illusion of depth. For example the ever popular and fashionable scenic designs produce a break of any kind except the finishing border.

This illusion of depth and perspective to a remarkable degree, and will give a miraculous broadening effect where used.

While semi-plain effect papers provide a foil for rich and costly draperies, elaborate furniture, and for pictures of real artistic value, they frequently fail to create an atmosphere of hospitality and restfulness in the average home, because they give various furnishings in the room too much prominence.

Miss Elsie de Wolfe, possibly one of the best known interior decorators on this continent, in an article on interior decoration, made the statement, that plain walls are the refuge of the artistically destitute."

LARGE DESIGNS

Large patterns express dignity and consequently are specially suited for large rooms, but the carefully selected large design of unconventional type may be frequently used to splendid effect in smaller rooms, providing an air of spaciousness impossible to otherwise secure. As pointed out previously the scenic design is an outstanding proof of this statement, because of its depth and perspective.

The frog breathes by swallowing air, because he has no ribs and, therefore, cannot breathe by expanding and contracting the chest.

Quick Tips On Ink Spots

When walnut tables or desks have become ink-stained to a degree which does not yield to cleaning, polishing and waxing, remove all the old finish with paint remover and then wash the surface with turpentine to get rid of any residue of the paint remover, before refinishing.

If ink stains still show, bleach them with oxalic acid in hot saturated solution, generously applied and left on the surface for twelve hours or so.

Then rinse the surface thoroughly with clean water, and wait until it is perfectly dry before refinishing. If the surface is not perfectly smooth, make it so by the use of fine sandpaper.

The article can then be finished with quick-drying varnish, applied in two thin coats, with the first coat allowed to dry thoroughly before application of the second coat.

Epsom salts were so named because they were first manufactured by evaporating the water of the mineral springs of Epsom.

Living Is Grand In Glass Houses

Windows, Walls Undergoing Extensive New Alterations

People who live in glass houses seem to like the idea.

Of course, apparently no one has tried an all-glass house, but some architects have been getting pretty close to that with "solar" houses, walls of glass and panels of glass blocks.

With designers now showing more courage and resourcefulness in blending new ideas in conventional forms, there are plenty of signs that more and more glass will be used in homes.

DOUBLE GLAZING

Even in house plans not adopting the whole "solar" idea of utilizing the heat of the sun's rays to help heat the home in winter, window walls equally as expensive as "solar" walls are widely used.

One of the most successful materials for such large areas of glass is a form of double glazing with a space of dehydrated air permanently sealed between two panes of glass. It is a modern development of the principal of storm sash.

The interior surfaces of this double glazing remain permanently clean, since no dust or moisture can enter the sealed space. Likewise condensation between the panes is impossible, since the air lock has been thoroughly dehydrated.

MANY ADVANTAGES

Although this glazing is several times more expensive than ordinary plate glass, it offers many advantages that tend to offset its cost. The built-in dead air space has a definite insulating quality, which tends to overcome the chill of sitting near a window in winter.

Reduction of condensation on windows is also a distinct feature of this material. An Alaskan home owner found his double-glazed windows free of frost when the weather was 10 degrees below zero, while his neighbors' single-glass windows were frozen solid with ice.

The idea for this product originated with a refrigeration engineer, who was aware of the damage done to window sills, drapes and walls in homes, and to merchandise in stores, by water running off windows.

Because of the importance of the sealed dehydrated space, this form of glazing cannot be cut to fit and the least crack can destroy its efficiency. It is manufactured in more than 60 sizes, but must be planned far ahead of time and carefully installed to prevent undue pressures.

One of the most interesting light transmitting materials is glass block. Looked upon before the war as a "modernistic" medium, this "brick", as it often is called, has won a definite place in contemporary design.

It performs a real function in admitting light without view in bedroom, bathroom, closet, basement, shower bath enclosures, and many other places, as well as forming translucent interior partitions that can be demountable if desired.

Glass blocks are available in a variety of designs ranging from the near opaque to wholly transparent. They are hollow, containing imprisoned dead air in a total thickness of approximately four inches, forming a double glass wall that reduces heat loss to a certain extent, and tends to deaden noise.

Dimensions are a quarter-inch less than 6x6, 6x8 and 12x12 to allow for mortar joints. The use of glass block, however, requires the same lintel construction needed for any window, as this material naturally is non-weight bearing.

One of the novel developments that is capable of bending the sun's rays in the manner of a prism. This type can be used to direct light up against a ceiling in order to eliminate glare on the sunny side of a house. It is a type often used for school rooms.

This is a handy material for remodeling or modernizing a home. A floor to ceiling exterior panel consisting of 13 rows of four glass blocks to each row can be obtained for about $30. Curved blocks are made for corners.

Ventilating inserts for glass block panels also have been developed. These are made of cast aluminum with heavy glass louvers outside and adjustable glass vanes on the inside. A fine mesh screen is located in the body of these ventilators to arrest dust and insects.

PREFAB WINDOWS

As for standard economical single-glass windows, mill work concerns have made great strides. Prefabricated windows, corner windows and bay windows are offered on a national scale by several large mills. They have been perfected both in wood and metal frames to a point where they do not stick or bind. They come complete with weather stripping, with glazing in sash and sash in frames ready to fit into the framework of a house. Hardware and flashing are already attached.

In fact, glass in other forms is finding its way into the home. Structural glass finishing panels, to take the place of tile in bathrooms and kitchens, are available in varieties of colors and thicknesses.

Glass is even being fused to steel as a lining for water heaters to keep hot water supplies pure and clean and free from any corrosion.

And the plastic manufacturers are making a bid for the glass field in the American home. Flexible plastic, in the form of pressed glass, opens the way for novel curving partition finishes.

The plexiglass of wartime bomber fame is being used for jalousies—shutters to northerners. Resembling Venetian blinds in appearance and function, these take the place of awnings and storm shutters. Their toughness defies sea-shore exposure and hurricane batterings. They are made in colors or clearly transparent. Light weight, they are free from warpage, shrinkage, or discoloration.

Conquistadores, the Spanish word meaning conquerors, is a collective term applied to the Spanish conquerors of America.

Liberals Hold Executive Meeting

WAINWRIGHT, May 26—Executive meeting of the Battle River Liberal Association was held in the R.O.F. hall, Wainwright, recently. Out of a total of 60 possible delegates, 52 were present from even the most northern riding.

Dr. A. B. King of Vermilion, president of the association, was present. Various committees were appointed and election plans laid.

OIL AND WATER

JUST because Mrs. Respectable Mouse was ambitious and wanted to raise her standard of living the Teenie Weenies had taken a deep interest in the family. The men had built some furniture for the mice, who lived in a neat hole under a big house. The Teegee Weenie women had shown Mrs. Respectable Mouse how to make curtains and rugs out of odd bits of cloth, and they often called to offer advice and encouragement, especially after the arrival of quadruplets.

One afternoon the Lady of Fashion and Tess, another Teenie Weenie woman, and two of the children set off for the Respectable Mouse home with an acorn shell basket of freshly baked cookies. They had been gone only a short time when they returned in quite a flurry. Nipper and Zero, the two children, were in tears and the women were tight-lipped and decidedly out of temper.

"Well, Well!" exclaimed the General. "What's the trouble?"

"We had a ghastly time," answered the Lady of Fashion.

"Nipper got to showing off and that started the four little mi-

"You can't blame Mrs. Respectable Mouse. She does the best she can," said the Lady of Fashion. "It's mighty hard to watch four active youngsters. They climbed right up onto the table and began to bite pieces out of the cookies we had brought. While their mother was scolding one mouse for taking cookies, another would get into the basket."

"Then Nipper!" said Tess, glaring at that urchin. "He had to start a fight with one of the little mice."

He got a good bite on the arm and it served him right, too."

"I felt sorry for the mouse who bit Nipper," said the Lady of Fashion. "Mrs. Mouse took him over her knee and she certainly gave him an unforgettable spanking."

"My, how that little spanked mouse did squeal!" said Tess. "With Nipper's bellowing the din was awful."

"Then to put a final touch to it all," added the Lady of Fashion, "Zero, who had been good up to that point, managed to get in his bit. He grabbed the tail of one of the quads who was climbing up into the corner cupboard, gave it a pull and the mouse fell off on top of the baby. They both joined the racket, and then we left."

"I'd say that mice and babies don't mix well," grinned the General.

"Just like oil and water!" answered the Lady of Fashion.

Synopsis: THE IMAGE OF GOLDEN ALETA AND PINK ARN IS EVER IN PRINCE VALIANT'S HEART, AND NOW, HIS QUEST COMPLETE, HE IS MORE THAN ANXIOUS TO RETURN TO THEM. THE FIRST DELAY IS CAUSED BY SIR CADOR, A BRAVE WARRIOR IN BATTLE, BUT A SIMPERING CLOWN IN THE PRESENCE OF GWYNN.

"HELP ME, VAL. I WISH TO TELL HER OF MY LOVE IN POETIC FASHION AS BECOMES A ROMANTIC SUITOR; BUT WHEN SHE IS NEAR I CAN ONLY MUMBLE LIKE A CLOD!"

VAL GOES STRAIGHTWAY TO GWYNN; "DO YOU LOVE SIR CADOR?" HE DEMANDS. HER CHIN COMES UP PROUDLY, "MY PERSONAL AFFAIRS ARE NONE OF YOUR BUSINESS, SIR VALIANT!"

THEN, BEFORE HIS FRIENDLY GRIN, HER ANGER MELTS. "YES, I DO, BUT THE BIG, HULKING DARLING IS TOO SHY TO TALK OF LOVE!" VAL TAKES HER BY THE ARM, "COME, WE WILL ATTEND TO THAT RIGHT NOW!"

"SIR CADOR! I HAVE WRITTEN A DECLARATION OF LOVE SUCH AS WOULD MELT THE HEART OF A STATUE! AND," HE ADDS, "TO GET OVER YOUR SHYNESS YOU CAN PRACTICE IT BEFORE GWYNN'S ARMOR!"

BUT VAL'S TOPLOFTY WORDS ARE TOO MUCH FOR SIR CADOR. "OH! GWYNN! GWYNN!" HE WHISPERS MISERABLY, "I LOVE YOU SO! WHY MUST I BE FOREVER DUMB IN YOUR PRESENCE?"

"AND WHY NOT, PRAY?" ANSWERS A TIMID VOICE, "MAYBE I LIKE YOU THAT WAY" AND THE JOB IS DONE

THEN VAL CALLS OSK, HIS SQUIRE, TO PREPARE FOR THE JOURNEY HOME. "BUT, SIRE," HE PROTESTS, "IT WILL TAKE SIX MONTHS TO MAKE SOLDIERS OF THESE RECRUITS.... IT IS MY DUTY..."

"...AND AFTER THAT IT WILL TAKE THE REST OF MY LIFE TO TRAIN HELOISE. BETTER I STAY IN ILLWYNDE."

NEXT WEEK - And Now, Sir Gawain.
